Defense of Ames and Brooks.

General Butler and Voorhees had a long consultation to-day relative to the defense of Oakes Ames and Brooks.

The Steamboat Bill.

The steamboat bill was up in the Senate today, and will come up again to-morrow. Its friends claim that it will pass, if not talked to death, as forty Senators favor it. The House Commerce Committee devoted four months to its consideration, and claim that it contains all the necessary provisions.

Pacific Railroad Agents Defeated.

The Pacific Railroad agents were defeated by the action of the House Appropriation Committee on the interest question to-day. The various plans of the agents were voted down. Mr. Edmunds' amendment was adhered to.

An Important Decision.

Whether under any circumstances a party has power to break open a letter addressed to another, has just been decided adversely in an Ohio court. The case which came before the court was as follows: It appears that one Nolan, having a grudge against Mr. Alfred Davis, of Tuscarawas county, Ohio, took occasion to vent his spite upon the latter by poisoning his horse. As this offence is severely punished by the laws of Ohio, and Nolan being apprised that he was suspected, fled to parts unknown. Davis made an agreement with the postmaster at Mineral Point that he should intercept any letter which he should suspect as having come from the accused, a constable, also, who was to have assisted Nolan, being in the scheme. Some time afterwards a letter addressed to Nolan's son was suspected as having been written by the old man. Davis and the constable were at once notified and the letter was handed to the constable to be broken open. Seeing him about to tear it open, the postmaster suggested that he could open it in a better and neater manner, and it was handed to him and he ran his knife under the folding of the envelope and pried it open. Meanwhile young Nolan came in and demanded the letter, which was refused him until read. The constable went to the neighborhood designated by the letter and arrested Nolan. Complaint having been lodged against the Postmaster for his conduct, he was summoned to appear at court to answer the charges preferred against him. After the case had been tried, Judge Stoneman, the presiding officer of the court, gave it as his opinion that under no circumstances whatever can a letter be broken open, and that no postmaster can do so, without a flagrant violation of his contract. Therefore he fined the defendant $150 and costs. There is no exception whatever provided for such cases by the Postoffice Department, but there is a remedy which it provides, and it is this. When a court of competent jurisdiction issues a subpoena to a postmaster, accompanied with a writ of Dures Teeum, the postmaster is bound to obey, but he is no longer responsible, but the judge, by whose authority the letter is then broken open. This can only be done in cases where the public good positively demands it.

The Revenue on Imported Articles.

There is a movement on foot to take the tariff off plush which enters into the composition of silk hats. But this and all similar propositions will not be allowed by the Ways and Means Committee, as the articles upon which the duty was reduced last year when the tariff laws were modified, have not brought in as much revenue as was thought would be the case. In fact the importations of such articles has not increased in the least, and consequently the revenues of the Government were not sufficient to meet the demands of its indebtedness.

The Tax on Savings Banks' Deposits.

The Ways and Means Committee have virtually decided to report adversely upon the proposition before them to suspend the collection of the tax on deposits in savings banks, &c., in order to get the question before Congress. Mr. Oakes Ames, of Massachusetts, has agreed to present a bill to the House asking that the savings banks request be granted.

When Wine Importers are Rectifiers.

A delegation of wine importers from New York called upon the Commissioner of Internal Revenue yesterday, and requested a reversal of a decision made by him last October, that where importers take their wines out of bond and mix them they become liable as rectifiers—must take out license as such, stamp their packages with rectifiers' stamps, and place over the door of their business houses a rectifier's sign. When this decision was rendered a request was made to not enforce it until they could obtain a ruling of a court on the subject, but this decision was never applied for.

The delegations argue that on sea their wines frequently get "sick," requiring them to take them out of the packages and mix them.

In reply, the Commissioner referred them to the law, which defines rectifiers to be every one who rectifies, purifies or refines distilled spirits or wines by any process, and every wholesale or retail liquor dealer or compounder of liquors shall be regarded as rectifiers.

The Commissioner adheres to his decision.

Tax On Surplus Savings.

Efforts are being made to get a bill through Congress, instructing the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to suspend the collection of taxes against savings banks for surplus earnings or undivided dividends until the final decision of the Supreme Court of the United States is made, or until these banks are relieved by Congress. The case awaiting decision upon the question in the United States Supreme Court is the Dollar Savings Bank of Pittsburgh.

Liability of Subsidized Corporations.

It is reported that the Credit Mobilier No. 2 has decided that the Government can compel the payment of accrued interest of the Union Pacific Railroad, and also interest as shall become due, compelling the road to set aside five per cent. of its net earnings, as provided for by the act of incorporation, as a sinking fund for the redemption of its bonds when they become due, and prohibiting the company from seeking any redress in the courts.

After patient discussion, in secret session, a majority of the committee are of the opinion that it would be inexpedient for the Government to seize the road or to repeal its charter, as to repeal the charter would lead to seizure. It is thought that the body of stockholders of the Union Pacific ought not to be punished for the transgression of a few corrupt men; hence this conclusion. The committee will show that Congress gave the company a subsidy for the purpose of building a first class road, but that instead of so doing they built a single track skeleton road, and pocketed a larger portion of the funds. In view of this fact the committee is of the opinion that the corporations ought to be compelled to disgorge, and an appropriate resolution to that effect will probably accompany their report.

The Revenue Marine Hospital Service.

Dr. Woodworth, Supervising Surgeon of the Revenue Marine Hospital Service, is making strong efforts to get up before the House his bill remodeling the Revenue Marine laws, so as to fix the rate which the Government charges for the cure of invalid foreign seamen, and provide for their cure, under the Revenue Marine Hospital Service, sailors on revenue cutters and vessels of the Light House Board, who are excluded from the privileges of the present laws.

Pension Claims.

Senator Pratt, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Claims, thinks that the propositions of the Commissioner of Pensions to remove the restriction of time in which pensions are allowed to fill their claims will be passed this session. As the law now stands all claims must be filed within five years from date of discharge from the army. The bill to remove such restriction has passed the House and will, from present indications, undoubtedly become a law.

River and Harbor Improvement.

The sub-Committee on Commerce, who drew up the River and Harbor Improvement bill, are of the opinion that many of the improvements partially provided for by the present bill will be still further increased next session. While the committee are aware of the necessity for more money to fully supply the wants of some of the needed improvements for rivers and harbors, they think that the amounts at present granted will widen the channel and be of immense value to the present wants of commerce.

The Pension Bureau.

The report of the Commissioner of Pensions for the week ended February 17, shows the following: Number of invalids admitted to pensions, 230; rejected, 326. Number pending February 17, 46,871; decrease, 1,031. Number of widows admitted to pensions, 110; rejected, 37; pending 132,868; decrease, 37. Number of survivors of 1812 admitted, 42; rejected, 151; pending, 2,246; decrease, 165. Number of widows of soldiers of 1812 admitted, 39; rejected, 47; pending, 2,289; decrease, 67. DIAMOND.

WASHINGTON, February 19, 1873.

The Pomeroy Investigation.

At the sitting of the Pomeroy Committee this morning Mr. Frelinghuysen said a resolution was passed in the Senate yesterday that permitted the presentation of proof of any allegations of corruption against Pomeroy directly, but not as to his friends. He then asked Mr. Horton what course he would pursue.

Mr. Horton said the defense should know what the accusers charged before the defense was presented, and asked that the other side submit a written statement of their allegations with the names of witnesses.

Mr. Simpson said the pending investigation at Topeka required the presence there of some of his witnesses, and that it would be unjust to compel him to make the statement required by Mr. Horton at this time. Mr. Simpson then called Frank Bacon, of the Kansas Legislature, to show that money was offered for his vote by the friends of Pomeroy.

Bacon testified that Judge Horton sent for him to go to the Tiff House, when Horton offered to pay his campaign expenses if he would vote for Pomeroy, as it was to the interest of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad that Pomeroy should be elected. He told Horton his expenses were about $2,000, but Horton declined, saying he would pay $600 or $1,000.

W. H. Bond, of the Lower House of the Kansas Legislature, testified that John T. Murphy met him in Topeka during the canvass, and said he had seen Pomeroy, who wanted him (witness) to vote for him on the following Thursday.

B. O. Driscoll, a member of the Lower House, was sworn. He testified that he had been approached in a financial way four times in relation to his vote. Asa Low urged him to vote for Pomeroy, and intimated that $2,000 would not break him (Low).

Withholding Payments from Railroads.

The House Committee on Appropriations today considered the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill, and agreed to the Senate amendment to the clause therein which repeals the ninth section, an act making an appropriation for the support of the army and for other purposes for the year ending June 30, 1872, approved March 3, 1871. The House Committee amend the Senate amendment so as to read as follows: And the Secretary of the Treasury is directed to withhold all payments to any railroad company and its assigns on account of freight or transportation over their respective roads of any kind to the amount of the payments made by the United States for interest upon bonds of the United States issued to any such company, and which shall not have been reimbursed, and any such company may bring suit to the Court of Claims to recover so much of the price of such freight and transportation as shall have been withheld, and in such suit the right of such company to recover the same upon the law and facts of the case shall be determined, and also the rights of the United States upon the merits of all the points presented by it in answer thereto by them, and the jurisdiction and power of said court in any such suit shall be the same as in other actions thereon, and its judgment therein and transcript thereof shall have the same force and effect as in other claims against the Government in said courts, and either party to such suit may appeal to the Supreme Court, and both said courts shall give such cause or causes precedence over all other business.

Another Statement by Colfax.

Mr. Poland's committee held a special meeting this morning to hear an additional statement of Vice President Colfax, who was present with his counsel, Judge Hale. Ames sat directly opposite the Vice President. Judge Hale said when Colfax came upon the stand on the 11th inst., the immediate question before the committee related to the deposit of June 22. He examined him solely as to the sources from which he (Colfax) obtained that money. At the time he had full knowledge of the remittances from Nesbitt, which Colfax would explain and submit letters from Nesbitt. Hale was influenced in this course mainly to confine that testimony to the point at issue. Again, as the letters were somewhat of a private nature, he did not want to bring them before the public. Colfax now desires to present these letters and answer any questions asked.

Colfax then read several letters from Nesbitt congratulatory in their tone. Two of them enclosed checks for $1,000. Colfax further testified that he received $4,000 in the aggregate from Nesbitt, $1,000 before the nomination, $2,000 after the nomination and $1,000 in November. He understood that Nesbitt had been a contractor to furnish stamped envelopes for the Postoffice Department, but witness had nothing whatever to do with aiding him to get such contracts, as they were made upon the recommendation of a Board appointed by the Postmaster General.

Belligerent Rights Asked for Cuba.

A delegation of prominent colored men, representing in part the Cuban Anti Slavery Society of New York, waited on President Grant to day at his room in the Senate wing of the Capitol, and presented a petition, numerously signed, praying that the Government accord belligerent rights to Cuba. The President said certain correspondence had been going on between the Spanish Government and that of the United States, which cannot be made public until called for by Congress. He appreciated their feelings of sympathy for their brethren in Cuba, and would do all he could, consistent with his views of public duty, towards furthering their wishes.

The White House Unfit for the President's Residence.

The House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds to-day considered Mr. Potts' resolution directing the Committee to inquire into the condition of the Executive Mansion, and agreed to report that the building is not suitable for a private residence of the President, but may be used as offices for the Executive. They further agreed to report in favor of erecting a new residence for the President, but no recommendation as to the locality is to be made.

Oakes Ames Again Examined.

Oakes Ames testified before the Senate Credit Mobilier Committee to-day concerning checks given to Senator Harlan.

POLITICAL.

The Missouri Senatorial Bribery Case.

ST. LOUIS, February 19.—Special dispatches say that at the Democratic caucus at Jefferson City last night, a long and stormy debate occurred on the question whether the Senatorial bribery investigation should be re-opened. After several substitutes and resolutions had been offered and defeated, or withdrawn, the following resolution was finally adopted:

Resolved, That the investigation thus far has been thoroughly and fairly conducted, but as a means of fully exonerating Colonel Bogy and members of the House, the Committee are instructed to send for General Davis and the cashier of the Exchange Bank of St. Louis.

Special dispatches received here say further, that notwithstanding Colonel Bogy's letter demanding the re-opening of the investigation, he yesterday asked various Democratic members to vote in the caucus against the recommitment of the Committee's reports, and to favor the immediate adoption of the majority report. He said he had been forced to ask for the reopening of the case in deference to popular clamor, but that he was really opposed to such action. It was also asserted that it was stated in caucus that Colonel Bogy's letter did not represent his true feelings.

Connecticut Democratic State Convention.

HARTFORD, CONN., February 19.—The Democratic State Convention met in this city to day. Charles R. Ingersoll was nominated for Governor, George G. Sill, Liberal Republican, for Lieutenant Governor, Martin H. Sauger for Secretary of State, Wm. E. Raymond for Treasurer, and Dr. A. R. Goodrich for Comptroller.

A resolution was passed declaring the Democratic party based on the principles of the Constitution declared at Cincinnati and Baltimore.

Brigham Young's Mouth-Piece on the Rampage—Mormondom Terribly Excited Over the Reported Nomination of Claggett for Governor.

SALT LAKE, February 19.—Brigham's principal mouth-piece, the News, absolutely boils to-night over the state of affairs in Washington. Referring to the report of Claggett's nomination for Governor, it says this may be justly considered an act of the bitterest and most unprovoked hostility to the people of the Territory. Alluding to a remark of the Philadelphia Press that Brigham Young is a "blot" and ought to be wiped out, it says this argument is a mob clap-trap, inflammatory, wild, senseless, extra judicial, and adds: It is the divine idea that excites the animosity of Forney—seduction, adultery, prostitution, whoredom, Tweedism, Credit Mobilierism, any thing to be endured except that which is divine.

Some doubt Claggett's appointment, there being no such information by the Western Union Telegraph. Claggett has hosts of friends here, but at this juncture the displacement of Governor Woods would be much regretted by even the most radical Gentiles.

A Murderer Hung by a Mob.

Benson, the murderer of Crocket, who was hung by a mob from the jail at Logan yesterday, was a son of the late Bishop Sharpp, prominent in the priesthood, and a friend of Brigham Young. Benson had long a reputation as a desperado, and had been a terror in Cacal county. He once before committed a murder, having fired into a ball room where he had been refused admittance, and killed the only son of a widow. A dispatch from Logan states that a Miss Julia Merrill died last night through excitement in consequence of the murder of Crocket, to whom she was much attached.

—George Drive, convicted of the murder of his wife at Chicago in December last, has been sentenced to be executed on Friday, the 4th of March.

The Constitutional Convention.

Consideration of the Report on Suffrage, Elections and Representation.

The Open Ballot Section Defeated.

Invitation to Attend the Centennial Convention Accepted.

PHILADELPHIA, February 18, 1873.

The Centennial.

President Meredith presented the following letter, addressed to him:

"PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17, 1873.—Hon. Wm. M. Meredith, President Constitutional Convention—SIR: The Joint Committee having in charge the arrangements for Pennsylvania's Grand Mass Convention to provide for the celebration of the Centennial Anniversary of American Independence, on the 22d instant, at the Academy of Music, respectfully ask your Honorable body to be present on that occasion. Trusting that you will send us an early reply,

"We are, respectfully yours,
"D. J. MORRELL,
"ASA PACKER,
"Commissioners for Pennsylvania."

The invitation was accepted.

The Ballot Question.

The Convention then went into Committee of the Whole on the amendment of Mr. Boyd, "That all elections shall be by ballot, which shall be numbered by the election officers when received; but in any city, borough or town, containing a population of at least 50,000 inhabitants, the ballot shall be numbered by the election officers when received, and each shall have endorsed upon it the name of the elector written either by himself or by another citizen of the district, who shall not be an election officer, and all persons voting in a representative capacity shall vote viva voce."

Mr. Landis moved an amendment striking out the words fifty thousand inhabitants, which he supported in some brief remarks.

Mr. Hopkins was opposed to the present provision in the Constitution, believing that the ballot was not only a miserable failure, but a miserable farce, notwithstanding the denial of the gentleman from Erie, (Judge Walker.)

Mr. MacConnell was opposed to the whole matter. If it was sent to the people of Allegheny saddled with this obnoxious, injurious and unrighteous provision, the Constitution would be voted down almost unanimously.

Mr. J. W. F. White did not discuss this question on party grounds at all. He discussed it in the interest of honesty and justice and for the best interests of Pennsylvania, and he felt it his duty to stand up and defend the right and the old system of voting.

Mr. Howard believed that every rogue, "repeater" and "rounder" favored the secret ballot, and that no honest man would refuse to vote an open ticket.

Mr. Ainey said that a few days among his constituents had satisfied him that they were almost unanimously antagonistic to the change proposed by the Committee. They believed the secret ballot to be their protection, and they were unwilling to surrender the right.

Mr. John Price Wetherill thought that much time had been wasted in talking about frauds in Philadelphia. Fraud is not confined in this city. It exists everywhere.

Mr. Struthers felt that the committee's proposition was likely to be more productive of evil than of good. He had never heard of any desire to change the system of ballot until he came to this Convention. He wanted checks to all frauds, but a change of the ballot would not prevent them.

Mr. Struthers spoke at some length on the subject, and forcibly presented his views, being most attentively listened to by the Convention, many members gathering close to his desk.

The question came up on the amendment of Col. Boyd, which was not agreed to.

A number of amendments and substitutes were offered and voted down, previous to the hour of one o'clock. Among them was one by Mr. Turrill, to add to the end of the section, "that every elector should have his photograph placed upon the outside of the ticket voted," which caused immense merriment, and as it was being carried, Mr. Turrell withdrew it.

The vote was then taken on the section, which was lost. Ayes, 39; nays 51.

SEC. 3. That electors shall in all cases, except for treason and felony, and breach or surety of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance on elections, was passed.

SEC. 4. Giving to electors of this Commonwealth, in actual military service, the right of suffrage in all elections by the citizens, under such regulations as are or shall be prescribed by law, as fully as if they were present at their usual place of elections, was also passed.

SEC. 5 That "the Legislature shall enact a uniform law for the registration of electors, but no electors shall be deprived of the right to vote by reason of not being registered," was taken up and discussed without coming to a vote, when on motion the Committee rose, and the Convention adjourned.

Saw-Dust Swindlers Threatening Assassination—Colfax and the Credit Mobilier—The New Charter Denounced by Mayor Havemeyer.

NEW YORK, February 19, 1873.

The New Charter.

At a meeting of the Committee of Seventy last evening, a letter was read from Mayor Havemeyer, denouncing the new charter, and saying that if it be passed, it will inaugurate the worst system of government which this city has yet known.

The Central Committee last evening endorsed the proposed new charter.

Colfax and the Credit Mobilier.

The Post has the following special from Washington: In regard to Colfax there is some additional evidence of a most positive character that Ames, in conversation with gentlemen other than Crouse, on the evening of the same day, or that of the day following that on which Colfax first testified before the Poland Committee after the holiday recess, did say that Colfax's testimony was substantially correct, and that the only point upon which they differed was in regard to still owing Colfax the five hundred dollars paid as subscription to Credit Mobilier stock. Ames said that his memory was clear that he had returned this money and that the account between them was closed without receiving dividends whatever from stock.

HORRIBLE OCCURRENCE.

A Man Drawn Feet Foremost Between Iron Rollers.

The New York World says it is scarcely ever within the province of a newspaper to chronicle a more sickening accident than that which happened to James Milligan, who was drawn feet foremost through two massive iron rollers only three and a half inches apart and which are used in flattening bars of steel for the plates of saws. Mr. Milligan was employed as blacksmith's helper in the steel rolling mill of Wheeler, Madden & Clemson at Newberg, N. Y. On Monday he was climbing upon a board laid across rods over the rollers, in order to place in position a wrench which is used to regulate the space through which the heated steel and iron are passed, when the board suddenly tipped, causing him to fall. His feet struck upon the steep side in front of the rollers, which were revolving at the rate of sixty times a minute, and were instantly caught between them. The poor fellow had only time to utter the single cry of "Oh!" while his body, feet foremost, was being drawn through a space of only three and a half inches. Hardly a second had elapsed before the body was a shapeless mass of flesh, blood, bones and clothes, presenting as it did, the most horrible and sickening sight that eyes could look upon. It dropped from the rollers a limp and quivering mass, and when straightened out covered a space of ground that two men would occupy. Not a whole or perfect bone remained in the body, and many bones were protruding through the flesh and clothing at different places. The head was a fearful sight to look upon. It had gone through the rollers face upwards, and it came out completely flattened and partially turned. Flowing from the smashed skull were the brains and blood in a stream sickening to behold. Strong-minded, able-bodied men were horrified and hardly able to stand and look at the scene, which really beggars description. His comrades who witnessed the terrible affair were struck dumb with awe, and rendered almost motionless and as silent as the corpse before them, except when questioned. The deceased served three years in the late war, was about thirty-three years old, and leaves a wife and two little children in moderate circumstances.

The Prospects of the Supplemental Local Option Bill.

An Unsuccessful Attempt to Smash the Philadelphia Ring.

PROPOSITION TO REMOVE THE WESTERN PENITENTIARY.

The Coal Men and the Coal Measurement Bill.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

HARRISBURG, February 19, 1873.

Local Option and its Prospects.

The House to-day resolved to adjourn from to-morrow afternoon until Monday evening, in order to give the committees on the contested seats from Luzerne county, an opportunity to visit Wilkesbarre, and take certain testimony necessary to their investigation. As these committees include about thirty members of the House, the propriety of an adjournment is apparent. They will have a good time up in the anthracite region, and all sorts of hospitalities have been tendered for their Saturday and Sunday enjoyment. Pending the discussion on the adjournment over until Monday, Mr. Mahon endeavored to get the House to face the music on the supplemental Local Option law, but it was of no avail. On a yea and nay vote there will be an undoubted majority for that bill, but many members who will vote for it, when the record will stare them in the face, are yet anxious for its defeat, if this can be done by indirect means. They have two classes of constituents to satisfy: the temperance interest and the rum interest, and if they can go through the session with whisky on one shoulder and cold water on the other, without endangering their popularity at home, they will be perfectly happy. A straight-out advocacy of the local option bill will insure them the cold shoulder of the all-powerful beer and whisky influence at the primaries. Opposition from it may give them trouble from the temperance people at the polls. They are in a very awkward sort of a split stick. Of course this don't apply to our Allegheny county representatives; those bold, brave men are not to be deterred in their duty by any such considerations; they are decidedly, manfully, and unequivocally determined in their determination to permit future circumstances to determine their course. No humbug there. It is gratifying in these degenerate days to know that our representatives, no matter what may be the crooked ways of others, are alive to the responsibilities of the hour. Brave boys!

An Attempt to Smash the Philadelphia Ring.

Mr. Mahon, of Franklin, who sometimes reminds me of an infuriated bull in a china shop, by the destructive way with which he occasionally goes for ring crockery, made a vigorous effort in the House to-day, to break up the Philadelphia ring, of which Speaker Elliott is the Republican head and Sam Josephs the Democratic tail. It was unsuccessful, but none the less deserves mention. It is necessary to explain that under the custom of the House, when bills are presented by members or received by the Senate, the Speaker refers them to such committees as he deems proper. If a member or a half dozen members are dissatisfied with the reference—for it generally involves the fate of the bill—they can only change the Speaker's reference by a two-third vote. A bill may be sent by the Speaker to a particular committee in order to kill it, and this, it is alleged, is often done. Once in committee, there are two ways of disposing of it; one is to smother the bill, and the other to report it adversely, when a two-third vote is required to take it up.

Mr. Mahon's move to day was for the adoption of a new rule, which would permit a majority of the House, at their discretion, to refer a bill to any committee desired. He showed that under the present system it was in the power of one-third of the House to determine the fate of a bill, even if it should be favored by the other two-thirds. He claimed further that this particular custom was responsible for much of the evil legislation which had disgraced the Legislature. Sam Joseph, of course, was the champion of the abuse. It has been mighty convenient to him during his fourteen years' legislative service. He worried over it, did Sam, as disrespectful to the Speaker.

Mr. Mahon's new rule was rejected by the House by a vote of 40 ayes to 51 nays. By the votes the members confessed the judgment of the Speaker was of greater value than that of a majority of the House; a verdict I am not disposed to contravert, and I am far from being an admirer of Mr. Speaker.

In referring bills, the favorite committee of the Speaker, when a measure is to be retarded or advanced, is the Committee on Municipal Corporations, made up of the following choice spirits:

FROM PHILADELPHIA:

Albright, Chairman,	Josephs,
Lamon, Secretary,	Smith,
McCullough,	Strock,
Ash,	Tittermary,
Burns,	Vogdes,
Newell,	Dailey,
Porter,	Welsh.

FROM REST OF THE STATE:

Ballantine,	Prizer,
Bullard,	DeLacy,
Burkholder,	Latta.
Darrah,

The Philadelphians named above, comprise the Legislative ring that only contributes to the Government of the State. I don't know that any of them have a worse reputation as legislators than Josephs, but there are none of them much better. Any eleven of the ring men on this committee, once in custody of a bill sent to them by the Speaker, may set at defiance any number of the House short of two-thirds.

This is the safe Committee to whom will be consigned the reform measures from Philadelphia, when once they get through the Senate. It was made up for the especial benefit of the Philadelphia Reformers, and to defeat any attempt to cut down the hundred thousand dollars a year savings, that city can afford to pay some of its county officials; yes, pay them that and come here to the Legislature and beg money for their Fourth of July show.

Members of the House perfectly understood that this new rule was an attempt to break up the Philadelphia ring, headed by the Speaker, and I therefore think the yeas and nays ought to be embalmed for future reference. On Mr. Mahon's proposition that a majority of the House should have power to refer a bill to any committee a majority deemed proper, the vote was as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Amerman, Bailey, Baird, Bates (Mifflin), Black, Brockway, Brunges, Burkholder, Cross, Darrah, Dartt, DeWitt, Dry, Hancock, Heiges, Hildebrand, Houseman, Jones (Potter), Kaufman (Schuylkill), Kisner, Laidley, Lamon, Lawshe, Lawson, Loucks, McCracken, McKee, McMillen, Mahon, Nyce, Oliver, Orvis, Petrikin, Pyle, Ramey, Reynolds, Schminkey, Steckel, Waldron, Wilcox and Young—40.

Nays—Messrs. Albright, Allison, Ash, Ballantine, Bates (Crawford), Bowman, Bullard, Burnes, Conrad, Dailey, Daniels, De Lacy, Eagan, Hegman, Kaufman (Lebanon), Koons, Lane, Latta, Levering, McCormick, McCullough (Berks), McCullough (Philadelphia), Myer, Mitchell, Morris, Mylin, Newell, Noyes, Porter, Prizer, Quigley, Ramsey, Sample, Shortt, Smith (Fayette), Smith (Philadelphia), Staples, Stier, Strock, Tittermary, Tshudy, Vogdes, Wainwright, Welsh, Williams, Wolfe, and Speaker Elliott—51.

A solid vote of the Allegheny county delegation for it would have secured the adoption of the new rule; but "our fellows" know on which side their bread is buttered, and generally side with the Quaker City Saints.

This may seem a trifle, but it is one of the trifles that determine the whole course of legislation.

The Coal Measurement Bill.

The bill introduced by Mr. Newmyer, and reported on favorably by the Committee on Mines and Mining, "to protect miners in the bituminous coal regions of this Commonwealth," brought down to the State capital this morning a strong delegation from Pittsburgh, in opposition, which included such heavy coal operators as J. C. and T. C. Dickson, D. Reesinger, F. C. Negley, Charles H. Armstrong and others. This afternoon these gentlemen met the Allegheny county members, and submitted their objections to the proposed measure.

The first section of Mr. Newmyer's bill provides that within three months from the passage of the bill any miner employed by an individual or corporation in the counties of Allegheny, Lawrence, Beaver, Mercer, Westmoreland, Fayette and Washington shall be entitled to receive or collect wages for mining all sizes of merchantable coal, either nut or lump, at the rate of seventy-six pounds to a bushel, and two thousand pounds to a ton.

The second section requires in the counties aforesaid, where coal is mined by measurement, cars of each mine of uniform capacity.

The third section gives the miners the right in all mines to employ a check weighman, to be present at the weighing of coal, with power to test the scales and measures. Should differences arise between the owner and the check weighman, the same shall be determined by arbitrators. It is also made the duty of the check weighman to see that the miner is correctly credited with the merchantable coal mined by him, and differences in regard to the same shall be referred to the Sealer of Weights and Measures of the county in which the mines are located.

The fourth section subjects any owner or agent fraudulently evading the law to a fine of not less than $100 or imprisonment for not less than forty days, or both, at the discretion of the Court.

More Vetoes.

Governor Hartranft sent in three messages today, vetoing bills that had originated in the House, authorizing him to appoint additional Notaries Public in certain counties. The vetoes were based on the ground that a general law just passed by the Legislature, authorizing him to appoint such officers at his discretion, made special legislation of this kind unnecessary. The Governor can now appoint all the notaries he deems the public wants require, but each officer or appointee, before entering on his duties, must pay a tax into the State Treasury of twenty-five dollars.

The Work House.

Two bills are before the Legislature affecting this institution. One prohibits the manufacture of barrels therein, and is believed to be pressed by the coopers. The other changes the mode of electing the managers from the Board of Prison Inspectors to the people, and is believed to have the same origin. I do not think there is any danger of the two bills passing. No reasons have been advanced why they should, but good grounds have why they should not. The attempt to show that the manufacture of barrels at the Work House injuriously affects the coopers, is of very little account, as the fact remains that neither the Work House or the coopers can supply the demand, and barrels are brought to the city in large numbers from Indiana. Superintendent Cordier, of the Work House, Jacob H. Walter, Joseph Albree, and Dr. E. S. Hanna, are here to prevent injurious legislation of the character indicated.

A Crowd of Pittsburghers.

There were probably fifty or more Pittsburghers in the city this morning, interested in promoting or retarding some particular legislation. Harrisburg is pretty lively just now with strangers, and the capacity of the hotels is tried to the utmost, and yet does not meet the requirements of business. We had delegates here in the coal interest, the mining interest, the Consolidated Gas Company's interest, the Work House interest, on behalf of the local option and against it, and to promote a variety of little bills not of much account, of course, but with great prospective gains lurking in their innocent sections for some patriotic citizen.

Removal of the Western Penitentiary.

Mr. Graham presented in the Senate this morning, a memorial from the Allegheny Councils asking for the removal of the Western Penitentiary from its present location to one outside the limits of the city. The memorial was referred to the Finance Committee, and an elaborate report may be expected from it before the session closes. I think it would be a good plan for the city of Allegheny, if it desires to further this project, to secure a suitable site for the prison and tender it to the State. Thirty, forty, fifty or a hundred more acres could be purchased at some eligible section of the country at a cost that would bear but a small proportion to the value of the present site, containing eight acres. The ground now occupied by the prison would revert to the city as part of the commons, if the Penitentiary was removed, but there is a project on foot—one that has been quietly canvassed for several years—to place it at the disposal of the Western University. Since the prison was commenced in 1818, the State has expended on it, for all purposes, a total of only $628,606. ARCTIC.

Opposition to Appropriations for Celebrations.

Mr. SAMPLE, of Allegheny, presented a remonstrance of James B. Fulton, Geo. E. Megraw, John Boyd and five hundred others, against the appropriation of money to the Centennial or any other celebration or purpose, except the necessary expenses of the Government.

A Move to Adjourn.

Mr. WAINWRIGHT moved that the House adjourn from Thursday till next Tuesday, in order to give the Luzerne Contested Committees an opportunity to visit Scranton, to take the testimony of Mahon, of Franklin. Objected to. This would prevent the local option bill from coming up, and unless it was considered immediately, the bill would be of no use. The spring elections would have taken place. The adjournment was carried by a vote of 56 to 45. All the Allegheny delegation voted for the adjournment except Newmyer and Young.

ARKANSAS.

Another Fearful Railway Accident—A Car Turned Over an Embankment—Twenty-Four Persons Injured.

LITTLE ROCK, February 19.—An accident occurred on the Ft. Smith Railroad at 5:30 o'clock A. M. As the eastern bound mail train due in this city at 7:05 was rounding a curve two miles east of Plumer's Station, forty miles from this city, the rear car, in which were thirty-two passengers, ran off the track, and turned over down an embankment. It was a box car, which was closed on both sides, leaving no chance for the passengers to escape. No bell rope led from the car to the engine, and consequently no alarm could be given. Before being turned over the car was dragged nine hundred yards before the train was stopped. Twenty-four out of thirty-two passengers were injured, and one reported killed.

WASHINGTON, PA.

The Allingham Homicide Case.

THE PROCEEDINGS OPENED BY THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

An Immense Number of Witnesses.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

WASHINGTON, PA., February 9, 1873.

The Allingham homicide began to-day. Yesterday was consumed in empanneling a jury, and the District Attorney, on the part of the Commonwealth, opened the case this morning. But three witnesses have been examined by the prosecution. It is thought that the case will last at least one week. The prosecution have about fifty and the defense about eighty witnesses. There have been thus far no new developments. A strong fight will be made on behalf of Briceland. The Commonwealth is represented by District Attorney Baird and Messrs. Richardson and Good, of Wheeling, and the prisoner by Crummie & Patterson and Geo. O. Jones, of Washington. The case excites a great deal of interest here.

Ohio Woman's Suffrage Convention.

TOLEDO, February 19.—At to-day's session of the Ohio Woman's Suffrage Convention, letters were read from Julia Ward Howe, Gerritt Smith, Parke Pillsbury and other officers of the State Association. The report of the Committee on Resolutions was read and accepted. The first holds that the right to vote is a personal right inherent in every citizen, and that any abridgement thereof is tyranny; the second pledges the Association to work for the removal from the State Constitution of the provision denying the ballot to women; the third declares that if a male citizen of the State, after a full and fair presentation of the case, shall insert in the new constitution a provision abridging the rights of female citizens, such act will put a stamp of deliberate tyranny upon the new government.

A Horrible Accident.

LOUISVILLE, February 19.—This morning David Randall, an employe of the Fall Iron Works in New Albany, while in the act of coupling a shaft which drives the nail machine, got his coat tail caught in the coupling, and was drawn around the shaft with such terrible velocity that his boots were thrown off and his clothing almost entirely stripped from his body. As soon as the engine could be stopped he was released. The flesh was torn from the bone on the right arm and on the left leg below the knee, and the face and head badly bruised.

The Late Explosion.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

SEWICKLEY, February 7th, 1873.

I notice that Mr. Jones, in closing his testimony regarding the late explosion, says he thinks it was caused by the sudden generation of superheated steam in some unexplained manner. Allow me to suggest that soot accumulated on the under part of the boiler and in the flues may have taken fire, unobserved. This would cause an immense amount of superheated steam to be generated in a very short space of time, and would very naturally seem to have been the cause of the explosion. HENRY H. BLAKE.

JUDGE SHERMAN makes, what on its face seems a very clear and fair explanation of his connection with the repeal of the business tax by Congress, showing that he used no influence either with Senator Sherman or General Garfield, and that he received no fee. If no rebutting testimony is brought forward, his statement will meet every reasonable expectation.

THE LETTER or memorial to be forwarded by the manufacturers and miners to the several members of the Legislature, tersely and cogently states the issue now made up in regard to the taxation of capital employed in industries. We have frequently pointed out the burdensome nature of these taxes. While it is true that large demands will be made on the resources of the treasury of the State during the current year, this affords no argument against the reduction asked, so long as a surplus of more than two millions can be applied annually to reducing the State debt. The important consideration, however, is to be found in the fact that the State Treasury is actually interested in the promotion of industries. The more rapidly wealth is accumulated, the larger the income to the State from taxes to which no objection has or will be made. But in placing complex taxes on industry the State represses the accumulation of wealth, hinders the flow of capital toward us, and thus injures its own prosperity. It is the old idea of killing the goose that laid the golden eggs. Singularly enough, there is a wide disparity between our profession and practice in this particular. Pennsylvania is celebrated for the vigor with which it insists on a protective policy,—which requires the general government to forego tariff revenues on certain articles in order to build up home industry.

IT is worthy of notice that there are several railroad jobs before Congress, which may be very urgently pressed as the session draws near its close. One of these is the Little Cottonwood Railroad Company of Utah, and another is the Kansas and Colorado Railroad Company, which seeks the privileges and franchises given the Union Pacific road by section third of the acts 1864 and 1866. Still another is, "to revive, amend and extend so much of the act of August 11, 1856, as relates to the railroad from Brandon, in the State of Mississippi, to the Gulf of Mexico." There is a very large and valuable land steal in this. The "Great Southern Railroad Company" claims the right of way through Florida for a railroad and telegraph. This is evidently a scheme to get control of the public lands without returning an equivalent. The last in the list is Elyton, Corinth and Tennessee River Railroad. The road is not located definitely, but is to run from the southeast to the northwest one hundred and thirty miles in the State of Alabama. This company asks several privileges, among which is to buy the land for ten miles each side of the road at the price charged when the lands were withdrawn by the Government. This is the snake in the bill, for while the charter may become invalid in five years, if the road is not built, this does not apply to the right of purchase, by the company, of the lands at the old Government price. The danger from these steals will be particularly great in the closing days of the session of Congress.

IT SEEMS very probable that the report of the Poland Committee will result in nothing practical, beyond the exposures it has made, and the warning these contain to Congress to be careful hereafter, in the bestowal of its land grant favors. It is quite certain that the Democratic members will make a strong fight against Brooks' expulsion, and as a two-thirds vote is necessary to expel, will probably carry their point. Few seem to care much about Ames, but if Brooks goes free, Ames will probably, also. There are two influences which will favor the retention of the members specially singled out by the Committee—the fact that there are several others in the same boat with them—as guilty or innocent as they; and party considerations. Brooks is a prominent representative man in his party, gentlemanly in appearance, of scholary culture, and is possessed of considerable party influence. His expulsion would be felt as a direct reflection on the party itself. Consequently every Democrat in Congress, (and several Republicans in all probability,) will be decidedly opposed to his being punished. The debate on Tuesday next promises to be exceedingly bitter, and will be largely participated in, and if nothing better can be done, fillibustering may be resorted to, or separate resolutions to impeach Mr. Colfax, or to expel other members mixed up in the Credit Mobilier business, may be brought up. In various ways the expulsion of those attainted by the Committee's report can be fought off. We, therefore, have little faith in the idea that any expulsion will take place. Yet the investigation and reports are not without their value. The attention of the country is drawn to the subject, and the doings of Congress, in reference to land grants and subsidies of various kinds, will be more closely watched than has been the case heretofore. In this much we will be thankful—not that we under-estimate the importance of the crime committed by some, or the weakness shown by other members of Congress relative to this affair.

AS THE plan and purpose of President Grant's southern trip become known, it is seen to be a very important event. It is not meant as a pleasure tour, but is designed to put him in possession of accurate information as to the condition and desires of the South. He will seek interviews with the people in the various cities at which he may stop, and will not be under the control of the politicians. He desires the thorough pacification of the South, and proposes to so adapt his future policy to this end, that there shall be no occasion for ill-feeling between that section and the North. He also desires to ascertain, so far as he can, what is needed for the material development of the South, in order that he may take measures intelligently to aid the several States that may be in need of assistance. In this, and various other ways, the President is evidently preparing to give the country the best administration it has ever enjoyed. The experience and independence gained during the past four years, are to be thoroughly utilized in the future; and those who know the practical sagacity of the President, and his aptitude for learning the wishes and feelings of the people, anticipate very important developments during the next four years. His past administration, rightly viewed, was a wonderful success—but rather in keeping away hindrances and evils, than in any forward movement. The long-standing boundary dispute, the Alabama question, the evils of the old-time Indian policy, and those of political appointment were removed—the whole comprising a very important series of benefits to the country. These obstacles out of his path, and the President evidently purposes to devote his attention to the internal development of the country, thus linking his name with great and beneficent public works of permanent value. As a preliminary to this, he seeks the thorough pacification of the country—the development of an era of good feeling between the people. In place of sitting at Washington, and depending on politicians' representations, he proposes to mingle with the people of the several States, and learn by personal contact and conversation their views and feelings. Already, we have intimations that he will be cordially received, a fact which promises the entire success of the projected visit.

GOVERNOR HARTRANFT.

Governor Hartranft is rapidly resolving whatever distrust may have been felt by any portion of the people of the State, as to his capacity and integrity, into a feeling of certainty that he is the right man in the right place. It gives us infinite pleasure to express this belief, as we are persuaded it will the people to accept it, when they come to fully appreciate the general policy of the State administration, of which we have had within a week some very strong indications.

The action of the Governor in regard to the bill giving the Pennsylvania Railroad power to increase its capital stock and issue mortgage bonds, without limit or restriction whatever, is a case in point. Setting aside all discussion as to the policy of such an extraordinary grant of powers, investing an already mammoth corporation with the attributes of a supreme sovereignty, if this bill had become a law it would have weakened the securities of the company held by the State, in payment for the public works—amounting to nine millions of dollars—just in proportion as the company increased its capital stock and bonded indebtedness. In the present management of the road, as we have already stated in these columns, possibly there was no fear of the powers asked for being abused, but no one can tell what the future may have in store, or deny the possibility that even this Railroad Company may be captured by pirates, as others have been. The race of Thomsons and Scotts, who have so successfully developed and extended it, is by no means immortal, and, with the changes that time hides in the future, they may be succeeded by a class to whom it would be wanton recklessness to intrust the illimitable powers granted by the original railroad bill. Governor Hartranft, in demanding that these powers should be restricted, showed a proper regard for the financial interests of the State, (involved in the indebtedness to it by the Railroad Company), as well as a statesmanlike appreciation of the dangers of the powers asked for by the Company, if they should unfortunately fall into the hands of unscrupulous foreign speculators, with no interests in common with the State or its people. The Governor did not seek to make capital by his disapproval of the bill. He courted no conflict with the Railroad Company, but it was so well assured of his views and determination, if pressed to a decision, that the bill was withdrawn from the hands of the Executive, and amended so as to make it conform to his judgment of what was expedient and safe. In this quiet and determined action, the Governor has settled many doubts, and it will inspire the people with a confidence in him that will materially promote the success of his administration. We are glad that he has been tested by the most powerful influence in the State, and has met it bravely and loyally.

In the veto of a local bill, sent to the Legislature a few days ago, we have an indication of Governor Hartranft's administrative policy in dealing with a most pernicious class of special legislation, that we also cordially indorse. True, the bill was of no special account one way or the other; it merely proposed to relieve the borough of Connellsville from the operations of a general law that applied to all other boroughs in the State, requiring the election of certain borough officers on the cumulative plan of voting. But the principle involved was a most pernicious one, and the Governor, in a brief message, pointed out his objections. If the law is a bad one, do not let it apply to a single borough; but if its provisions are wise and salutary, let its operations be general. That is the correct doctrine. It will make our laws and people more homogeneous; stop an important branch of Legislative axe-grinding; and prevent abuses certain to follow any departure from the principle laid down by the Governor.

We hope General Hartranft will persevere as he has set out. Next winter we anticipate relief from many of the evils that flow from bad legislation at Harrisburg, through the restrictions of an amended Constitution, but until then we must rely on his vigorous use of the veto power. He has the right to require the Legislature to reconsider its action—in fact it is his duty to do so—on all questions of doubtful constitutionality, or that seem to contain the germ of public dangers. True, it is a one man power, but when exercised in the interest of the people, it becomes the highest and noblest prerogative of the executive.

SOCIAL ASPECT OF COOLIE LABOR.

Beaver Falls seems likely to grow into prominence as the result of the recent Chinese importations. Various phases of the coolie question are being brought under discussion, not the least important of which is that developed by the Chicago Tribune. It argues that where the importation of large bodies of Chinamen is apt to affect the morals or civilization of a community, this is a reason why they should not be allowed employment. The following embraces its own statement of the case:

"Chinamen have the same right to come into the United States and engage themselves in work, at such prices as they may desire, that is enjoyed by the African, the Irishman, the German, and every other man of whatever race, color or nativity he may be. But it is a mistake, commonly made by those who look at the Chinese problem from this standpoint, to suppose that this statement comprehends the whole case. There is another axiom equally well defined. No corporation has the right to introduce an element into civilized society which has a tendency to break down the civilization of the community into which it is introduced. Government and civilization are of twin growth and mutual dependence. If it is one of the main purposes of civilization to provide good government, it is the highest duty of Government to protect civilization. As a demonstrated nuisance is abated for the protection of the public health, so every relic of barbarism must be rooted out for the benefit of civilization. As it would be a social crime to force the society of ignorant and depraved people upon an educated and cultivated person, so it would be a political crime to discourage skill and good citizenship by placing incompetency and vagabondism upon an equal footing, in any community."

This rather abstract and theoretical view of Political Economy reads well in the books, and in extreme cases is well enough in practice, but to apply it as a rule argues an immense weakness in our boasted civilization. If a community of a thousand is to be decivilized by one hundred heathen Chinese, it argues but small resistive power in the civilization of the thousand. We remember hearing several grave theologians debating, several years ago, the danger to Christianity of certain Chinese joss houses erected on the Pacific coast. It looked to them as though they were carrying the missionary war right into our midst. Generally, we have faith that there is enough moral stamina in any well established American community to resist the encroachments of the Celestials. The trouble is, they take employment from the hands, and bread from the mouths of the American workmen. And we contend, if they are Coolies, and the contracts were made in China, they can be legally annulled.

THE CHINESE LABOR QUESTION.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

Your correspondent "Justice," in yesterday's paper, appears to have awakened from a Rip Van Winkle sleep of forty years, and is exercised with a holy horror that men shall to-day demand more for digging coal than he paid for coal delivered when he "commenced housekeeping in 1833."

But little in his article merits attention or reply. He asks if "it is not true that the very men who make the most noise about the Chinese are themselves to blame for their advent among us." I reply to this, No! A slur is cast upon Irish, Welsh and English, and "to some extent" American mechanics, because of their demands for fair wages and reasonable hours. I do not justify many unreasonable demands and more foolish strikes of inconsiderate workmen, nor do I judge trades unions as of any real benefit to the laboring class. I wish to say here, that none of these were in any way responsible for the introduction of Chinese labor by the Beaver Falls Cutlery Company. When the Beaver Falls cutlery was erected, the Harmony Society was not chief owner. They possessed an interest, but not a controling one. The Superintendent employed by the Company was a practical workman, though somewhat lavish in his expenditures. As a result the stock was not remunerative. At the death of the Superintendent another was employed, and it is said the Company still lost money, though Mr. Mason, the Superintendent, contradicts this statement. When the Harmony Society became chief owners of the stock, the Superintendency was again removed, and a person entirely ignorant of the manufacture of cutlery was put in control. "When the cat is away the mice will play" is an old adage and true, and it is also true that any class of operatives will take advantage of ignorant or unskilled superintendency. The result was another loss to the concern, all accounted for (?) by high wages. Be it known that no "strike" of workman occurred and no demands for higher wages were made while these things were transpiring. The loss of these years I am informed was considered as so much capital invested and dividends thereupon expected. With the introduction of cheap labor, at this present writing, I have nothing to do. I am not concerned whether the Cutlery Company has or has not a right to employ Chinamen. My simple duty is to defend innocent men who now protest against what they deem an unjust attempt of capital to compel competition with labor, employed at starvation prices, to any except Chinamen and brutes, for no Christian or civilized man can labor at these wages, keep and educate his family in a Christian manner.

"Justice" says: "The man who labors at a useful calling deserves liberal wages, such as will enable him to raise and educate his family, and acquire a freehold." Will "Justice" inform the laboring man through your columns what he calls liberal wages?" Speak it out, my dear sir, in words that cannot be misunderstood. Forty years ago "Justice," if he labored at all, probably labored for fifty cents a day. Will he now consider this sum "liberal?"

JUSTICE NO. 2.

FAYETTE FARMERS' CLUB.

Address by Hon. John Gillfillan on "The Coming Boy"—How to Keep Farmers' Boys at Home—"Give the Boys a Chance."

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

OAKDALE, February 11th, 1873.

The Fayette Farmers' Club is "still afloat," and characterized by that thoroughly live condition which has thus far marked its career. The exhibition of farm implements and produce, which it gave last Spring, was an achievement of much merit. This coming Spring the club anticipates having a plowing match, for which we bespeak the patronage of all, county politicians included, as usual. On different occasions the club has availed itself of the eloquence of outsiders, and on Monday evening, February 10th, we listened to an able address delivered before it by Hon. John Gillfillan. His subject was not "The Coming Woman," but "The Coming Boy." It was both appropriate and good, and was ably handled. We know of many boys who would willingly have labored hard and long to have brought their parents within hearing of the speaker, if there were hopes of their being impressed with the solid truths that were poured forth. He first spoke of the necessity of "our boys" having a good education, and claimed they ought to have it, must have it, and those who are, in the future, to fill important positions on the arena of usefulness, will have it. After having spoken at some length on this he glanced over the defects of our common schools, and then spoke of the necessity of encouraging the boys, all or them, to remain at home. The oldest boy, he said, if shrewd, and if he manifested an aptitude to appropriate the property of others to his own use, should not on this account, be encouraged to study law. The second, because he seems to have but little conscience and exhibits a desire to "cut and slash" at everything with which he comes in contact, should not for this reason be molded into a doctor, by from ten to eighteen months' training. And the third, he should not be fashioned into a preacher without regard to whether he is sufficiently talented to make a good one. In families where such is the case, and the parents are fortunate enough to have another boy, he is too apt to be kept at home, to do heavy drudgery in order to save the expense of employing aid, taught to envy his brothers of their pleasure, and good clothes, and thus disgusted with farming before he reaches the years of manhood.

Farmers should strive to have all their boys remain at home; they should encourage them, giving them an interest in the products of the farm, allowing them a share in the stock, etc.; should permit them to know how all the business of the farm is transacted, and to do a portion of it. Home should be made attractive by furnishing the house and ornamenting the surroundings. Make it a place of pleasure and enjoyment, abandon the old custom of living in the kitchen, even in muddy weather; move into the parlor and live there the entire year. Have company at your house, teach the boys to go into society and not to avoid a social dance, or an innocent game. The old constitution under which farmers raised grain, cattle and fancy sheep must be abolished and a new one adopted under which more vegetables shall be raised and farming made more remunerative. After touching on the importance of keeping our Continent the American Continent as long as possible, and of the prevention of our being eradicated by foreigners, he cautioned the farmers to "give the boys a chance" and to make them feel that "there is no place like home," and brought his remarks to a close.

His discourse was much appreciated by all present, as was evinced by a hearty vote of thanks.

The club has reason to feel flattered with the success that has crowned all its undertakings. For it we bespeak a prosperous future. K.

MODOC INDIANS.

An Interesting Review of Their Depredations.

The recent exploits of the Modoc Indians against the forces sent to battle with them sufficiently prove that they are "a warlike race," but as considerable has been said about their peaceful disposition, a few facts from their record may prove interesting to our readers.

The history of their depredations and massacres begins with the year 1846, when warriors of the tribe killed one white man at a place in their country now known as "Bloody Point." In the summer of 1847 they murdered a man named Garrison, forty miles east of Goose Lake, and soon afterward cut off and massacred a party of twenty-eight persons at Bloody Point. In 1849 they cut off and murdered a party of eighteen persons near Wright's, or Tule Lake. In 1851, near Lost river, murdered F. Tewillegar, Chas. Smith and Reason Haines. In August, 1852, at and near Bloody Point, they killed Mr. Coats, John Ormsby, James Long, Felix Mortin, Mr. Wood and 34 other persons, names unknown. In January, 1854, the same tribe massacred Hiram Hulin and Westley Mayden near Lost river. June 15th, same year, they killed Daniel Gage on Siskiyou Mountain and captured a train with goods. August 19, 1854, at Gravelly Ford, they murdered W. A. Perry, Geo. Lake, E. B. Cantrell, Jno. Crittenden, John Badger, Alex. Sawyer, and a Mr. Woods. In September, in Rough River Valley, they kill Manville M. Keene and Mr. Stewart, and Calvin M. Field, Samuel M. Warner and John Cunningham on Siskiyou Mountain. In 1858, Felix Scott and seven others were murdered by them at Goose Lake, and Coloin's party for Salt Lake was forced to turn back. In 1860, they murdered Eli Deedford, Samuel Probist, James Crow, S. F. Conger and J. Brown, near the Klamate lakes; and in July, 1861, killed Joseph Bailey, Samuel Evans and Edward Simms, and badly wounded John Sheppard.

Of course, this record does not show that the Modocs may not have had wrongs on their side, and that their murders were not the usual Indian way of taking revenge. Neither does it show that they have been culpable in the last few years and should not be treated with for a peaceable settlement, if possible, rather than extermination. Still, the result given and the fact of their late desperate stand, show that they are more aggressive and brave than the common "Digger."—San Francisco Bulletin.

ACCORDING to an official report, no epidemic disease has occurred on board any of the seven Atlantic emigrant steamship lines since 1865, nearly 1,500,000 passengers having been carried from that year to the present. The deaths among emigrants carried last year were at a rate rather less than fifteen per thousand per annum. In 1852 emigrants began to cross the Atlantic on steamers, and for some years afterwards the majority were still carried on sailing vessels. This state of affairs is now entirely changed, and during 1871 ninety-six per cent. of the total number of emigrants to North America were conveyed on steamers. The number of steerage passengers carried on steamers from Great Britain to North America during 1872 amounted to about 200,000, conveyed in 520 voyages, and averaging 385 to each voyage.

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

FLORIDA hasn't a penny in its treasury and owes nearly six millions dollars.

THE United States is the only great nation which has paid off any considerable portion of its debt within the last five years.

THERE were only about two hundred deaths by starvation in London, last year. How about those African subscription funds?

THE alligators in the Florida bayous are thawing out, and pickaninnies and calves have again commenced to mysteriously disappear.

THE second trial of Jesse Uppercu, charged with the murder of his aunt, Mrs. Wheat, in August last, in Baltimore, commenced on Monday.

A WISCONSIN singing-master is in arrest before the Bar of Neenah for flogging one of his young lady pupils, aged seventeen, with such severity as to break a hard-wood ruler on her person.

ONE of the most celebrated physicians of Philadelphia, it is said, eats two raw apples every evening before he retires to rest, and thinks they not only supply food to his brain, but keep the whole system in a healthy condition.

A MAGICIAN has been performing in Buffalo who cuts a man's head off, shows it around to the audience, a la John the Baptist's, and then returns it to the man, without any uncomfortable effect resulting to him from the temporary loss of the same.

THE body of one of the five missing Wilmington, N. C., pilots has been recovered. Their boat was swamped six miles from land two months ago, but the sea brought back his remains and revealed them on the beach within half a mile of his home.

JACOB MILLER, while cleaning a well on Joseph Wallace's premises, at Springfield, Ohio, on Monday, was instantly killed by a bucket full of mud falling on his head while being hoisted. The bucket dashed his brains out, caving in the whole upper portion of his head.

BY a surgical operation in Portsmouth, N. H., last week, a lady whose mouth has been firmly closed for five years, the jaws being immovable, and who has taken no nourishment except liquids sucked between her teeth, was relieved so that she now masticates her food.

MISFORTUNES, they say, never come singly. The Swiss Times says that recently, during a performance at the Scala Theatre, Milan, a ballet-girl was nearly burned to death, a modiste fell and broke her leg, a supernumerary fell dead, and one of the musicians became raving mad.

A YOUNG married woman, named Mrs. Elizabeth Rowe, residing at Bluffton, Ind., was found dead at an early hour Monday morning, and it is supposed she committed suicide by poison whilst in a fit of jealousy. She has been at times during the past few months exceedingly jealous of her husband.

THE medical world on the other side of the Atlantic is somewhat excited over the success of a remarkable operation performed by a Dr. JOUX, a Belgian police surgeon, on an apparently drowned man. The victim had been dead seemingly for three hours; but the doctor resuscitated him by placing three iron plates heated to a white heat over the vital parts in the upper part of the body.

AN Indiana lawyer agreed to divide with the man who occupied an adjoining office a cord of wood, if the man would carry it up-stairs and place it in the rooms. The man worked with alacrity until he had safely deposited his own half, and then was too weary to complete the job. The lawyer was compelled to procure the services of another man to enable him to keep from freezing.

THE Paris Chief of Police has recently issued an order that large tablets giving a general notion of how sick and wounded persons should be treated when physicians are not at hand, are to be suspended in all the police stations in the city, in order to prevent mistakes and guard against the danger of confounding the insensibility produced by apoplexy and kindred diseases with that of drunkenness.

GOVERNOR GROVER, of Oregon, has addressed a letter to the Modoc peace commissioners protesting against any action by which the crimes of the Modocs shall be condemned. He says that the people demand that the murderers be given up to the State authorities for trial and punishment, and that the rest be returned to the reservation. He says further that the project for a new reservation on Lost river ought not to be entertained.

THE President of the Calfornia Agricultural Society, Mr. Reed, estimates that it took last year 2,722,222 bushels of wheat, or one-eleventh of the entire crop, to pay for sacks, the expenditure for this purpose being $2,450,000. These are made of jute, imported from India and worked up in Scotland. Mr. Reed thinks that the rich bottom lands, especially in the southern portion of the State, will produce jute equal in quality and quantity to that of India.

A WOMAN who had been committed to jail in Baltimore as a common scold, while there fell desperately in love with a dashing looking young man incarcerated for larceny, and as soon as they were released, they hied them away to a minister and were made one. Their courtship had been carried on under difficulties. And their married bliss was of short duration, for in a few days the faithless bridegroom disappeared with $26 belonging to his trusting and now disconsolate spouse.

WE ARE apt to look upon the Hoosac tunnel as an engineering job of some magnitude, but there is another work of the kind in contemplation which, if completed, will reduce it to the second or third rank in point of size. The James river and Kanawha canal, now partially completed, is to pass under the Allegheny mountains, the proposed tunnel for the purpose being over eight miles in length. The engineers estimate the cost of the completion of the work at $37,000,000.

THERE is a document on exhibition in the office of the Secretary of State of Illinois, which is of some historical interest. It dates from the Black Hawk war of 1832, and is an order from the brigade inspector to supply "Captain Abram Lincoln's company" with thirty guns. A receipt for the arms is appended, signed by Abram Lincoln. The question, therefore, arises, "Was Lincoln's name originally Abram or Abraham? or was it Abram at first and Abraham afterward?"

AN awkward man was upon a jury in Maine recently. The case in court involved a claim for money for building a cellar, and the number of perches of stone used were specified. But this awkward man, as it chanced, knew something by experience about building stone walls, and this little item was not quite clear to him. So when the jury went out, he took his pencil and quietly ciphered a little while at the table, and then, in the most matter-of-fact way, told his fellow-jurors that, as he made it, there was enough stone put into those cellar walls to fill the cellar completely up, and have three or four perches of stone left, and he was puzzled to know where they put their potatoes and garden sass.

A SAD affliction is reported in a Madison family, a father and three children having died of small-pox, leaving only a heart-broken mother. Owing to the poverty of the family and the dread of the disease, no one could be found who was willing to assist Mrs. Walters in nursing and caring for the sick and dying. With her own hands and unaided, this woman cared for her dear ones while living, and when death brought them relief from their sufferings, the wife and mother performed the last sad duties before they were consigned to their final resting place. The attending physician, Dr. Lewis, was the only human being who entered the house during the entire sickness, nearly three weeks in duration.

TWO YEARS and six months in the Penitentiary is the sentence of Kaas and Siner, two of the six gamblers for whom Register of Wills, William M. Bunn, went bail. The others, with one exception, are still fugitives from justice. Reference had been made to the distressed wife and children of one of the prisoners, and such an appeal always has its influence with the humane; but while Judge Allison has doubtless given it due weight, he did not fail to bear in mind the other fact, that the wives and children of the men enticed into the gambling dens and plundered of their money are also entitled to consideration. The sentence is just half what the law authorized, but will be all-sufficient if it is enforced to the end. All attempts to interfere with it should be discountenanced in the strongest terms. If this sentence be enforced without abatement by pardon, gambling, under the shield of "protection money," will soon be dead in Philadelphia. Kaas was a dangerous man to be abroad in this community and Siner was a disgrace to the city.—Phila. Ledger.

SOME letters to the Princess Charlotte, George IV.'s daughter, published for the first time in the Quarterly Review, make up a very pathetic and touching story of the domestic life of that unhappy scion of royalty.

THE Rev. Dr. Fulton, of Boston, informs the Massachusetts Legislature that, on the whole, he prefers polygamy to woman suffrage, chiefly, as it seems, because the advocates of woman's rights, as a rule, "have no children, or very few."

THIS is the way they keep up the balance of power in Kentucky: "To the wife of James Bradley, of Fayette county, a son—Jeff. Davis. To the wife of Robert Ritchey, of Fayette county, a son—U. S. Grant."

LORD LYTTON'S estate at Knebworth is supposed to have yielded him an income of $75,000 a year. This, with the copyright of his works, which have averaged him $15,000 a year for many years, enabled him to live comfortably, and to place him in the position of being the most opulent literary man of modern times.

THE only brother of the late Governor Geary is a Presbyterian clergyman and President of a College in Oregon. On Wednesday Mrs. Geary received the following dispatch from him:

"ALBANY, OREGON, February 10.—Mrs. Governor Geary: Life! Death! Immortality! Dear brother, farewell. Trust and be comforted. E. R. GEARY."

THE Missouri Democrat publishes an extract from a private letter from Berlin, which says that a report is quite prevalent that Prince Bismarck's continued indisposition is owing to the numbers of poisoned letters he has received. He is so troubled with dizziness that he scarcely leaves his house, and his wife, who always reads his correspondence with him, is suffering from an unaccountable feebleness. The palace has been closed during the entire winter on this account, and neither Prince Bismarck nor his wife has participated in the court festivities.

THE musical critic of the Atlantic Monthly, one of our highest authorities, says of Miss Kellogg: "Miss Kellogg comes back to us as complete an artist as ever, the pure, penetrating quality of her voice seeming even more beautiful, if possible, than in past seasons. As a singer, as far as purity of style and method, and fine, sympathetic, musical expression go to make one, we should rank her even above Madame Lucca or Miss Nilsson. Her singing is, in fact, almost absolutely faultless. She is, moreover, an intelligent, conscientious and painstaking actress, and a little more of fire, passion and intrinsic dramatic force would place her in the very highest rank on the lyric stage."

RUPTURE.
Every kind of Trusses for the cure of Rupture may be obtained at Dr. Keyser's establishment, No. 167 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa. It is a matter of the greatest consequence that all who are ruptured should be properly fitted with a suitable Truss, and one that will keep the ruptured parts in their place. Many persons do not know when they are ruptured, and frequently years are allowed to pass by before anything is done. This is a great error, and one that is often paid for at the expense of the person's life. Rupture is too serious an injury to be treated with lightness or neglect, especially when the means for its relief and cure are so easily obtained. Children and young persons are easily cured with the improved appliances which are constantly being added to the great variety which Dr. Keyser always has on hand.

DAILY GAZETTE.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, February 19, 1873.

We have received a partial list of subscriptions made by the National Banks to the new funded loan. In the list we find the following subscriptions made by Pittsburgh banks:

Union National Bank	$ 103,000
Citizens National Bank	101,000
Exchange National Bank	400,000
National Bank of Commerce	343,000
Tradesmen's National Bank	125,000
Total	$1,072,000

We suppose others of our banks made heavy subscriptions, but they are not included in the list received.

Our readers who are interested in the daily quotations of New York stocks, will have noticed the reduced quotations of Union Pacific. It is said that a clique in Washington have gone heavily "short" of the stock, and to enable them to cover their contracts at a profit, have introduced a bill in Congress, to depress prices yet further. But by the time small holders are shaken out, and the public have discovered the bill to be a sham, the same clique will have gone "long" of the stock and be ready for a rise.

The New York Times says:

The weekly averages of the Associated Banks, local and national, reporting through the clearing house for the week ending Saturday last, February 15, compare as follows with the previous week, and also with the corresponding week last year. The import entries in New York, embracing foreign dry goods and general merchandise, for the week past, were $11,364,368, against $7,319,339 for the corresponding week last year. The New York Shipping List says "the continued financial pressure at a period when we are accustomed to look for an early money market, causes no little disappointment to borrowers, and is ascribed to various causes, prominent among which are mentioned the immense amount of amassed wealth wiped out by fire during the last year or two, and the unparalleled progress of railroads and other forms of internal improvement, many of which are as yet unproductive. The January dividend and interest disbursements have about all been re-invested, and yet the demand is sufficiently active to give employment to the available funds from all sources and at very full rates."

Our local money market to-day was not easy, but rather close. The National banks are expecting a call for a statement, and are holding their funds well in hand in anticipation of it. Some of our banks, too, anticipate an increased demand for money during the next month, and are rather decreasing than increasing their lines.

In our insurance statement published last week, we did an unintentional injustice to the Allegheny Insurance Company. As we then stated, we compiled the statement from the published statements of the various companies; but it seems that there was an error made in printing the statement of this company, the printer making the losses in 1872 $36,489.60, in place of $26,489.60, the correct amount. With this corrected amount, the company suffered a loss of 63.69 per cent. of its income, in place of 87.87, before reported, and carried to 3.43 per cent. in place of deficiency, as before stated. We make this correction to remove all wrong impressions which may have been created by our former figures. We would not willingly injure any company, and can recommend the Allegheny as entirely reliable and worthy of all patronage.

NEW YORK, February 19, 1873.

Money was very stringent at 1-32 to ⅛ per cent. per day, with the bulk of the business at 1-16. The demand continued after three o'clock, and the latest loans were at ⅛. Capital is difficult of access, even at the high rates. Sterling weak; 108⅜@108⅞. Gold was quiet and steady; 114⅛@114⅜, closing at 114⅜@114⅜. Loans 1@6 per cent. for carrying and flat for borrowing. Clearings $71,000,000. The Treasury disbursed $94,000. Governments dull and steady. There is considerable comment on the acceptance of only one million by the Treasury, when there was an opportunity to buy five millions at or under par in gold. The million bought at 113 65-100@113 85-100 will be paid for three-quarters in National Bank and the rest in legal tender notes. State securities dull; Tennessees better. Stock speculation was checked by the continued high rates for money and the schemes of strikers at Washington and Albany, and prices are depressed, but not to a serious extent. Western Union was especially strong, and advanced from 88⅛ to 89⅞. The changes in the rest of the list were less than 1 per cent., and the decline was partially recovered late in the day, the market closing steady.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CENTRAL STOCK YARDS, EAST LIBERTY, WEDNESDAY, February 19, 1873.

CATTLE.

Trade up until to-day was rather quiet, and the market has not, nor is it likely to come up to the expectations that were entertained at the commencement of the week: it was thought yesterday after the reception of the reports from New York and Philadelphia, both of which markets were reported a shade better, that cattle would stiffen up and rule in favor of the seller, but thus far these expectations have not been realized, and, as already intimated, it is not likely that they will be. The arrivals of local stock, intended to be sold here, were comparatively light, but then there was a largely increased number of through cattle, 110 cars reported on Monday and Tuesday alone, and this was not without its effect though indirectly it may be; there is a big "run" of through stock, buyers here operate cautiously, and there is not much doubt that if it had not been for this, our market would be better than it is. There have been but very few cattle bought as yet for New York, nor is it likely that there will be; we understand that some of the heaviest York buyers are buying the great bulk of their stock in Chicago for the present; this accounts for the increased number of through cattle, and at the same time it operates against this market by cutting down the demand. When there is a full attendance of buyers from New York and Philadelphia competition is pretty sharp, rendering trade lively; at present, however, the Philadelphia men are having it pretty much their own way, and it is said that they usually "bear down" when they get the chance, which is all right and proper. They have the same right to get cattle as cheap as they can that the sellers have to realize the biggest price the market will afford, and this they invariably do—it is a poor rule that won't work both ways. Philadelphia dealers are frequently denounced by the salesmen as hard buyers, but there would have been no trade at all scarcely this week had it not been for John McArdle, Roddy Maynes, James Aull, Duffy, Mooney, and some more of these Philadelphians.

The arrivals up to this writing have been fair, about the same, from all we could learn, as during the corresponding time last week, while in point of quality there was not much difference: the bulk of the offerings, as has been the case all winter, were of the lower grades, while of strictly prime shipping steers the supply is light, hence, the latter are selling quicker, and at relatively better prices than the former. Sales of 54 fair Texas averaging 1,180 at 4⅞; 50 good 1,250 steers at 6; 16 ave. 1,238 at 6⅛; 17 prime 1,300 at 6⅜; as yet there have been no sales above 6⅜, but extra 1,450@1,500 may be fairly quoted at 6⅞@7c. Common to medium stock is averaging say from 4⅞@5⅛c, and inferior at 3⅛@4. This latter class of stock cannot be sold here to make any money for their owners, and it is if they cost anything, as a good many owners have found out to their sorrow; but still they come, and there is no question but the great abundance of this common stock tends indirectly to keep down the value of good cattle.

SHEEP.

The arrivals thus far have been fair, about the same as during the corresponding time last week; in regard to the general condition of the market, the reports were rather conflicting. Some operators reported it a shade better for good stock, but that there was improvement in common; others that it was substantially the same as last week, while others, again, didn't think it was as good. There is this, however, there are more sheep being sent to New York: it is true a good many of them go on commission, but it prevents an accumulation, and hence, the feeling is rather better, although there is no quotable change in prices. Erisman bought two or three cars for shipment to New York whereas last week, if we mistake not, he did not buy a single sheep, which would indicate that the situation in that market is improving. There was a full attendance of Philadelphia buyers, most of them bought pretty liberally at, from all that we could learn, about last week's prices.

Following is a partial report of some of the sales: 198 good 80 lb. Indianas at 5.15; 291 scallawag Ohios at $2.60 per head; 169 common 80 lb. Indianas a 4.60; 76 prime 106 lbs. at 7 cents; 80 fair Illinois, 82 lbs. at 5⅛; 178 common 80 lb. Indianas at 4.50; 800 prime 100 lb. Illinois at 6⅛; 350 good 100 lb. Ohio at 6⅛.

HOGS.

The arrivals continue light and the quality as a rule very common; as stated in our last report, it seems as if the great bulk of the best hogs have been marketed and that the "tail ends" are now coming forward. Prime heavy hogs, such as are usually bought for shipment to Philadelphia, have been scarce all week, and with an average demand, prices have advanced and are still advancing; there were sales this morning at 5⅞, and the indications, when we left the yards, were that any verging to extra will bring 5⅞ perhaps 6 cts within the next twenty-four hours. Yorkers are also higher but the market was quiet to-day, and it is attributable to the fact that Chicago is a cheaper point for New York buyers; hence, there is less inquiry here, and notwithstanding the supply is light prices are weaker; sales were made yesterday and this morning at 5@5⅛, but it is doubtful whether these figures can be realized within the next twenty-four hours.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, Feb. 19, 1873.

Trade in Petroleum, both crude and refined continues quiet though the market is firmer and there seems to be rather more inquiry; however, there is no quotable change in prices. Crude, according to the Parker reports, can be delivered here for about six cents; and it is intimated that there would be more Pittsburgh buyers if it was not for the difficulty in getting transportation; refiners do not feel like buying, as long as this difficulty exists. Refined is reported steady with some sales still making in the east for export, but there is no change to note in prices; 19⅛ delivered in Philadelphia, and 16⅛@16⅞ on cars here. Western orders are scarce and are likely to continue so during the next five or six months.

Oil barrels quiet and unchanged; country make, $1,85@$1,90; city make, 10 lb. hoops, $2.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, February 19, 1873.

APPLES—The demand continues light, and dealers very generally report the market dull, although prices are without quotable change, ranging from $1,50@2,50 per barrel, according to quality.

APPLE BUTTER—Sales at 50 to 60c.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—$7,50@8 per bbl.

BROOM CORN—There is a moderate trade but no quotable change in prices, which range from 4 to 6½c.

BUTTER—The supply of strictly prime butter is reported as being very much reduced, and with an average demand the market for this particular kind is firmer; prime to choice selling readily at 28@30—some dealers quote higher. Low grade butter is in good supply and dull.

BEANS—There is continued fair jobbing demand, but the supply is ample and, prices are unchanged, ranging from $2.25@2,75 per bushel, according to quality.

CANNED GOODS—Peaches, 3 lb. cans, $3 to $3½ per doz; 2 lbs, $2,50; Tomatoes, $2,40 to $2,50. Winslows Corn, $3; other brands, $2,50 to $2,75.

CARBON OIL—Is still quoted at 16¼ to 16½ by the car load, and 2 to 3c more for small lots.

CONCENTRATED LYE—Is quoted at $7,50 per case for 50 case lots, and $8 for small lots.

CRANBERRIES—Sackett's and Carey's, $14 per bbl: common, $10@12.

CHEESE—Standard brands of Goshen are firmer and higher, and we advance our quotations to 17@17½. Common stock is quiet and unchanged, 13@14—the inquiry is mainly for the former and has been all winter, and it is selling quicker, notwithstanding it is 2@3 per pound higher.

DRIED FRUIT—Continues dull, but prices are nominally unchanged; Peaches, halves, 7 to 8; Apples, 4 to 6; Blackberries, 10 to 12; Pitted Cherries 20 to 22; unpitted, 7 to 8.

EGGS—The market is dull and weak and prices have still further declined; buyers generally are holding off, are buying very sparingly, while holders are anxious to realize, hence, the indications are that the bottom has not yet been reached. We reduce our quotations on fresh to 28@30—limed are not wanted scarcely at any price. We notice that eggs have declined to 20 cents at Chicago, and there will doubtless be heavy consignments made from that point to this market, which, of itself will be sufficient to break it down.

FLOUR—The market continues quiet and weak, and while there has been no general decline as yet, the indications point strongly to a lower range of prices; we understand that some houses with large stocks, are anxious to realize, and that they are making concessions in order to effect sales, and we do not think that a cash buyer would have any difficulty in buying from any of our dealers at a reduction of from 25 to 30 cents per barrel. The arrivals have been unusually heavy during the past few days, hence stocks are accumulating, and as we have already intimated, holders, generally, are more anxious to sell.

GRAIN—The market for Wheat is weaker in sympathy with the advices from other points, but the arrivals continue light, hence, prices are still maintained; $1,78@1,83 for fair to prime red, and $1,90@1,95 for white. The aggregate stocks at the principal receiving and transfer points is stated to be some 8,000,000 bushels less than at this time last year; but, it is said, that there is plenty, particularly in the west which has been kept back by the severe weather, to come forward, and the impression is gaining ground that Great Britain will be able to supply all her deficiencies at present prices or even less. Oats continue dull, with a supply considerably in excess of present requirements, but prices are without quotable change, ranging from 40@43 cents, according to quality. There is no improvement in the demand for Shelled Corn, and with a large supply, which is steadily increasing, the market is very unsatisfactory for sellers, many of whom could not get out with a whole skin at present prices. We continue former quotations, 48 on track and 50 in elevator. Ear Corn is coming in more freely and is weaker in consequence. Rye may be quoted, in the absence of sales, at 90. Barley is still quotable at 85 to 90 for spring or 95 @$1 for fall.

RIVER NEWS.

The river was falling last evening, with about 12⅛ feet in the channel. Weather was clear and pleasant, and business generally seemed to be better.

The Monongahela continues to recede steadily at head waters, while the Allegheny was reported stationary with 27 inches at Oil City, and two feet at Parker's Landing.

The Carrie Brooks from Wheeling arrived and departed as usual.

The Juniata departed for Cincinnati with a fair trip including about 400 tons of freight and some 30 passengers. She will doubtless pick up considerable at points below.

The Mollie Moore, from New Orleans, is about due, and may be expected to arrive here to-day; however, the current is very strong, and she will doubtless be delayed.

The towboats Boaz Storm and Jas. Gilmore passed Cincinnati on Monday en route for this port.

The Brill, Capt M. A. Cox, is announced for Nashville, and all intermediate points.

Locks Nos. 3 and 5 in the Monongahela river are reported out of order, having been unhinged by the recent freshet, and until they are repaired the packets will have to exchange trips at that point.

The towboats Whale and Tom Rees no 2 with tows of coal, the former for Louisville, and the latter for Cincinnati, departed.

—The St. Louis Democrat of Monday says: Our neighbor the Republican, might have given a broader view in its issue of yesterday, in relation to packet lines between St. Louis and St. Paul, and done a proper thing. For instance, instead of mentioning that there is a rumor afloat, which is not yet confirmed, that the Northern Line and Keokuk Line are consolidating for a severe war this season upon Davidson's White Collar Line, that if, and so and so, it had said, "there is a strong probability of a consolidation of the White, Red and Blue Lines at an early date, and that those three packet lines, running from St. Louis to St. Paul and Keokuk, will hereafter and from opening of navigation be controlled by one president and board of directors, a consummation devoutly to be wished by every stockholder in the lines," our admirable neighbor would, we think, not have incurred the charge of being far from the truth.

—The Wheeling Register says: "We had the pleasure of meeting, yesterday, Peter Shouse, one of the old pioneers of steamboating, and probably the only man now alive who worked with Robert Fulton. He was one of the builders of the little New Orleans, the first steamboat that ever navigated the Ohio river. She was built at Brownsville, Penna. Mr. Shouse, though in his eighty-fourth year, retains his vigor and his memory unimpaired, and describes the hopes, fears, success and failures of the first steamboatmen as though they were matters of yesterday. Although now far beyond the ordinary duration of human life, he looks as if he had many years of active life left in him yet. He contemplates removal to Shousetown near Pittsburgh, we understand.

—A late Memphis dispatch says: Seven feet more of a rise will carry the water out of the banks at points above and below here, and from the appearance of the heavy drifts that have passed for forty-eight hours, and considering the condition of the Cumberland and Tennessee, as previously anticipated in these dispatches, we will have that this week, in which cause the destruction to property on the low lands would be great, both above and below. Boats arriving to-day report vast amounts of corn on the banks in the bends which must be submerged unless the river comes to a stand, and below there is considerable cotton yet unpicked. The Arkansas and White rivers, as well as the St. Francis, are rising; the former quite rapidly at Fort Smith. Weather cool and partly clear.

—We also clip the following from the same paper: As the tributaries of the Missouri, above St. Charles, are rising fast, and the Illinois and Upper Mississippi are sure to rise speedily, boatmen will see that the embargo to the South is not est, and they had better look out for their spars and wharfboat stages. Let the people along the Lower Mississippi look out for a flood. See how the Cumberland and Tennessee are.

—James Wyatt, superintendent of the Nashville water works, is an old boatman. He began his nautical career as engineer of the old sternwheeler Sligo in 1844. This was the first regular packet that ever ran in the Cumberland river. She made semi-weekly trips from Nashville to Smithland, and was commanded by Capt. C. G. Cabler.

—There is an immense amount of corn on the banks of the river below Cairo that will certainly be submerged unless the boats take it within the next two days, as the water is already within 6 feet of the top of the bank, and rising an inch per hour.

—Two men were suffocated on board a boat at Pascagoula, Miss., last week. The cabin in which they retired to sleep was filled with charcoal fumes.

—Henry E. Harper, of Louisville, has chartered the Mountain Belle for six weeks, and she left Monday to enter the Vevay and Louisville trade for that time.

—A large force was engaged on Monday at Evansville in removing the cargo of the Collier's barges from the wharf on account of the rapidly rising river.

—The steamer Tom Stevens, which was sunk at Osage, Mo., on the 5th inst., was raised on the 14th.

—Steamboatmen at Sioux City are making wagers that the river will break up before the 1st of March.

FORTY-SECOND CONGRESS.

(THIRD SESSION.)

The Political Disabilities of Ex-Governor Smith, of Virginia, Removed—Bond Upon Importations of Sugar, Molasses and Iron—A Bill to Revise the Bankrupt Law—Military Bills Reported to the House.

WASHINGTON, February 19, 1873.

SENATE.

Political Disabilities Removed.

The House bill removing the disabilities of ex-Governor Smith, of Virginia, was passed.

Publishing Debates.

Mr. ANTHONY called attention to the necessity of making some disposition in regard to the contract for the publication of the debates of Congress, as the existing contract expires on the 4th of March. Mr. Anthony intimated that he would ask the Senate to consider the subject to-morrow.

Bond on Importations.

Mr. SHERMAN, from the Committee on Finance, reported without amendment the House bill providing that upon all importations of sugar, molasses, pig iron and railroad iron, the amount of bond required shall only be in the penal sum of double the amount of duties on such articles, and that upon all other importations it shall be in the penal sum equal to the invoice value of the merchandise imported, with the duties added.

Revising the Bankrupt Law.

Mr. WILSON introduced a bill authorizing the President to appoint three Commissioners to revise the Bankrupt law, and report amendments thereto. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Railway Affairs.

Mr. STEWART, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported with amendments the House bill, prescribing the general provisions under which persons may incorporate themselves as railroad companies in Territories and have the right of way for their roads over public lands.

Mr. STEWART, from the Committee on Pacific Railroads, reported with amendments a bill supplemental to the act incorporating the Texas and Pacific Railroad Company. It authorizes said Company to consolidate with or lease any railroad in Texas or California connecting with its main line, on such conditions as may be prescribed by the laws of those States, and also construct branches from its main line north to a point to Utah and Colorado, and to the State line to Nevada and to the Mexican boundary, one branch north and one south, to be constructed from such line to each of the Territories of New Mexico and Arizona.

Asiatic Cable Telegraph.

Mr. CASSERLY entered a motion to reconsider the vote passing the Asiatic Cable Telegraph bill.

After an executive session, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

The House went into Committee of the Whole and resumed consideration of the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill.

Without disposing of the bill, the Committee, at one o'clock, rose, on motion of Mr. GARFIELD, who wishes a hearing for Mr. Beatty on the bill to give the

Reporting and Publishing of Debates

to Murtagh, of the Washington Republican.

Mr. BEATTY again moved the previous question on the bill. The previous question was seconded—82 to 43.

After debate and remarks by Mr. Beatty, Mr. BLAIR moved to lay the bill on the table, which was negatived—yeas 84, nays 106. The vote was almost a strictly party one. The bill was then passed without a division.

Military Bills.

The House then proceeded, in accordance with a previous arrangement, to the consideration of bills reported from the Committee on Military Affairs. The following bills were reported by Mr. COBURN, Chairman of the Military Committee, and passed:

To provide for the inspection of distributions of appropriations made by army officers.

To extend for one year, till February 1, 1874, the time for filing claims for additional bounty under the act of July 28, 1866.

To provide for head stones in National Military Cemeteries.

To confirm the purchase by the proper executive department of a certain tract of land at Omaha, Neb.

To authorize the Secretary of War to ascertain the amount of expense incurred by the territorial authorities of Dakota in arming, equipping and supplying volunteer forces in the Indian war of 1862.

Mr. COBURN also reported a bill declaratory of the meaning of the third section of the act of July 11th, 1870, in regard to the time at which commissions issued to officers during the late war, who were prisoners of war, etc., shall take effect. This bill gave rise to considerable discussion and opposition, it being stated in the course of the debate that it would invalidate the army record and take twenty millions out of the Treasury. The House refused to second the previous question, and the bill was recommitted.

Mr. COBURN also reported a bill to provide that no person shall be promoted in the army who is addicted to the intemperate use of intoxicating liquors or drugs. The bill was passed.

A recess was taken. The evening session is to be for business of the Military Committee.

Changing Base.

The congregation of the Smithfield street M. E. Church, we understand, has purchased a lot at the head of Fountain street, on which they propose to erect a new building. Their property, at the corner of Seventh avenue and Smithfield street will be sold, and, as it is very valuable, it is thought that enough will be realized to build the new church.

Hearing Postponed.

The case of the six boys who were arrested on charge of stealing goods from the cars of the Pennsylvania Railroad came up before the Mayor yesterday afternoon for a hearing, but was postponed for one week on account of the sickness of young Jones, who was released on bail. The bail was reduced from five thousand to five hundred dollars, but being unable to procure bail the defendants were re-committed to jail.

More Mail Robbing.

Last night U. S. Detective Pender arrived in this city with John Bylon, a young man about eighteen years of age, who is charged with having stolen two bags of mail from the post-office at Crestline, Ohio. The robbery was committed about two weeks ago, and a short time afterwards young Bylon was arrested on some other charge. Suspicions were entertained that he had stolen the mail, and he was accordingly brought to this city and placed in jail for a hearing.

The Washington County Murder.

The Allingham Murder trial was continued yesterday. At nine o'clock the Court opened and the trial was proceeded with. District Attorney Baird opened in an elaborate resume of the case on behalf of the Commonwealth, after which George Allingham, a brother of the deceased, and who resided with him, detailed the facts connected with the killing. He stated that Briceland, the accused, had frequently slept in the house of the deceased, and had every opportunity of becoming acquainted with his habits, manner of sleeping, &c. His examination was not concluded when the court adjourned.

Robbery of Valuable Instruments.

A few evenings ago Dr. Hechelman, of Allegheny, made a professional call at the house of Mr. Henry Moser, which proved a very expensive one. Upon going into the house, the Doctor took off his overcoat and hung it on the rack in the hall. When he was ready to leave the house he found that a thief had entered the hall and taken the coat together with a silk hat. In a pocket of the coat the Doctor had left a set of very valuable surgical instruments, which were also taken. The set was valued very highly by the Doctor, who brought them from Europe but a short time ago, and who says the loss cannot be replaced this side of the ocean. The police were notified, but no arrests have yet been made.

Suit for Damages.

Dennis Brennan yesterday morning entered suit in the office of the Prothonotary of the county charging Patrick Usher with seduction and breech of promise of marriage. The affidavit of the plaintiff sets forth that the accused became acquainted with their family in the summer of 1871, at Brookville, Jefferson county, Pa., and that he then also became acquainted with Annie Brennan, a daughter of affiant. That he promised to marry her in July 1872, and it is alleged, under said promise seduced her. Annie is minor. Damages are laid at $5,000. Usher is said to be a contractor, and it is alleged, has a wife and family in Cincinnati, Ohio. A capias for the arrest of the accused was placed in the hands of the sheriff. When the paper was presented in court bail was fixed in the sum of two thousand dollars.

Discussion.

ALLEGHENY, PA., February 19, 1873.

Prof. Neal—Hon. Sir:—I take this opportunity of informing you of the postponed discussion, which was temporarily propound, on account of circumstances not being agreeable. Thereupon, I do hereby announce that I am at leisure, and will meet you on Tuesday next, February 25th, 1873, at the A. M. E. Church, corner Boyle and Hemlock streets, at 7:30 o'clock P. M., to discuss the following:

Resolved, "That good will eventually accrue from the 'religious amendment' to the Constitution of the United States."

Neal, Affirm.
Thomas, Deny.

Aff.—Argument—That good will accrue and what is the good. (?)

Neg.—Argument—That evil will accrue, and what are the evils. Yours, respectfully,

C. O. H. THOMAS.

Burglars Frustrated.

On Tuesday night a well laid plan for burglarizing the residence of Mr. William Alexander, at Hazelwood, was discovered and frustrated, by the inmates of the house. About ten o'clock the attention of the family was attracted by a noise as of pebbles dropping on the roof at regular intervals. Their suspicions were aroused, and Mr. Alexander, who had left the house a few moments before, was called back, and the house was searched, but nothing was found. The noise was repeated in a few moments, and when the second alarm was raised in calling Mr. Alexander again to the house, a man who had been concealed somewhere in the house, rushed through the hall and made his escape through the front door. It is supposed that the pebbles on the roof were intended for a signal to the man within that Mr. Alexander had left the house and that operations might be safely commenced.

Entertainments at Wood's Run.

Musical and literary entertainments were given at the Valley Presbyterian Church, Wood's Run, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evening last. The music was conducted by Prof. Garrett, who is an excellent vocalist and performer. The first and second evenings were devoted principally to music and tableaux, participated in by the young ladies and gentlemen belonging to the church and choir. The music consisted of glees, choruses, duetts and songs, given by Mrs. Jamison, Miss Emma Mathias, Miss Adda Donnelly, Mrs. Lewellyn, Miss Luella McKeown, and by Mr. Morgan Davis, Master Harvey Garrett and Mr. Jamison. The concerts were highly enjoyable, and reflected the highest credit upon the performers.

Friday evening was devoted to a humorous allegory, entitled "The Spirit of Seventy-six," participated in by Mr. W. C. Wells, Miss Lida Neal, Miss Mary Donnelly, Miss Adda Tidball, Miss Emma Mathias, Mr. Will M. McCullough. The entertainment afforded great satisfaction to every attendant.

Religious Amendment.

In our notice of yesterday giving a list of the delegates appointed to attend the National Convention, to secure the religious amendment, to meet in New York on the 26th inst. We, by mistake, stated that tickets as well as certificates or credentials would be furnished on application to Dr. Chestnut, Liberty street. This, so far as tickets are concerned, was a mistake, the word tickets should have been entirely omitted. The Railroad refuses to grant excursion tickets according to the original arrangement, so that now full fare will have to be paid.

Quite a large delegation are not only sure to be in attendance at the Convention from Pittsburgh and Allegheny, but delegates have been appointed from Sharpsburg, Wilkinsburg, Bellvue, and various portions of Western Pennsylvania, and other points in this and other States where meetings have been held during the last two weeks. Judge Strong, of the United States Supreme Court, the President of the association, it is understood, will be present and preside during the deliberations of the Convention. Taking all in all there is every indication of a large and representative meeting at the approaching Convention.

THE IRON INTERESTS.

Meeting of the Bar Iron Association.

The Western Bar Iron Association held a meeting yesterday morning at the rooms of the Iron Association, No. 81 Fourth avenue. There was a full representation of all the leading manufacturing establishments in this line in the west, and after a full interchange of views, the Association decided to adhere to the present card rates. No other business of public interest was transacted.

NARROW ESCAPE.

An Accidental Pistol Discharge—Capt. Palmer nearly made the Victim.

Last evening about eleven o'clock, an incident occurred at the lockup which came very near inflicting a very painful, or perhaps, fatal wound to Mr. Charles Palmer, captain of the night watch. At the hour named, the captain was sitting at the desk writing, and Mr. S. S. Smith, a compositor employed on the Chronicle was standing in front of the desk examining his revolver. While the weapon was pointed towards the Captain it was accidentally discharged, and the ball struck the desk about a quarter of an inch from the edge. This turned its course, and it passed a few inches over the head of the Captain and struck the wall. Had the pistol been pointed half an inch higher, the bullet would have taken effect in the body of the Captain.

HYMEN AND SPIRITUALISM.

A Spiritualistic Matrimonial Ceremony.

We had the pleasure on last Saturday evening of witnessing the nuptial ceremonies of Edward D. Kreutzer and Miss Jane E. Keppel, Mrs. Jonathan Watson joining the pair in the holy bonds of wedlock. The services were very interesting, being the first Spiritual marriage performed in this place by the lady. Mrs. Watson claims the right to perform marriage ceremonies by virtue of her being accredited Spiritual Minister of the society in this city. At about 8 o'clock a small company had gathered in the parlor of a house in the rear of the laundry on Franklin street. The happy pair soon made their appearance. Mrs. Watson having previously passed into an abnormal state, immediately arose and delivered an invocation to the Diety. Recovering her consciousness she requested the couple to join hands, and proceeded in the usual manner to make the twain one flesh, using the old formula. After congratulations from the guests, refreshments were served, and the party dispersed late in the evening. Mrs. Watson informs us that she has married several couples before this in Rochester, and she evidently felt quite at home during the services.—Titusville Herald.

Inquiry revealed the fact that the family had been accustomed to eating cold sausage, which contained raw pork and was diseased. The father and mother were more seriously affected than the children, but it is hoped that all will recover.

....A well known gentleman of this city, and whose connection, in an official way, with the State Government secures him an ample supply of annual passes on all the railroads running out of the city, a few days ago lent his pass to a clergyman friend of his, who wished to take a trip on the P. R. R., without the customary expense. Now, it happens that Mr. Blank is a very large fleshy man, who will weigh a little less than four hundred pounds, perhaps, and his reverend friend is of the opposite description, being very tall and slender. When the pass was presented, it at once occurred to the conductor that his friend had very materially wasted away since his last trip, and he accordingly put the question to the reverend gentleman, who had to acknowledge the corn, and the conductor took up the pass. The generous gentleman will travel the remainder of the year on the cash basis.

The pastoral residence is being fitted up preparatory to his coming. The Rectorship of St. Peter's has been vacant for a year, but the delay in filling it has enabled the church to secure the services of a gentleman who should please, if unquestioned ability and fitness for the work is of any merit. The reverend gentleman bears the highest reputation as a minister and pastor, and the Parish cannot fail under his administration, and with the cordial cooperation he will receive from the people, to prosper in all good ways.

Pittsburgh Mechanics.

The fame of the mechanics of Pittsburgh is extending, and every year some new evidence of their superiority is given. Noticeably is this shown in the fact of the large increase in our manufacturing establishments and in the trade they which enjoy. Prominent among those which occur to us now is the Novelty Carriage and Wagon Works of Messrs. L. J. Richards & Bro., on Centre street, near Penn avenue, and at the gate of the Allegheny cemetery. Messrs. Richards & Bro. have an extensive establishment, but their facilities are at present taxed to the uppermost to enable them to keep pace with the demands of their trade. Their success is attributable to the fact that no "slouch" work is ever turned away from their establishment, but that whether it be in the smallest repairs to a rough wagon, or the finishing touches to a fine carriage, the same skill and care is exercised.

They manufacture that popular style of vehicle, the Perfection Buck Wagon, with or without tops; also all kinds of wagons and carriages; and further give particular attention to repairing. We are glad to note that their success is in a measure commensurate with their merits.

How Unnecessary the Anguish many persons undergo from rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, toothache and earache. We say unnecessary because the application of MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT to the afflicted parts, or a few drops of it in the ears or tooth, affords instantaneous, and what is better, permanent relief. For cuts, wounds, bruises, swelling, and all injuries or diseases which require treatment externally, this liniment is everywhere recommended as the most potent and reliable healing agent in existence. For all external injuries or ailments of horses or cattle it is infallible. TTHSS.

THE TAX PAYERS.

An Uprising in the Seventh and Eighth Wards—Large Meeting at the Franklin Street School House—Mr. McCarthy Explains Equalization—Report of the Committee.

Pursuant to the call published in the city papers, a meeting of the tax-payers of the Seventh and Eighth wards was held last evening at the Franklin street school house, Seventh ward, to take some measure for opposing the increase of taxation. The attendance was very large, and those present were evidently much interested in the subject under consideration. At half-past seven o'clock the meeting was organized by calling Mr. C. Martin to the chair and appointing the reporters secretaries.

Mr. O'Keefe moved that a committee of five be appointed by the chair to consider and report to the meeting the best course for the tax-payers to pursue to protect themselves against the evils under consideration.

Mr. Hart thought this meeting ought to be made a preliminary one, to arrange for a meeting to be called by all the citizens of the ward, and not by a few. He offered an amendment to the resolution, making this a preliminary meeting to arrange for a meeting to be held next week.

Mr. O'Keefe said that some persons present seemed to be offended because they were not first consulted in regard to calling this meeting, and had come here to thwart the objects of the meeting.

Mr. Hart said that he was sorry he had attended if it was intimated that he came to disturb the meeting. He was no politician, as all knew; but he was as much in harmony with the object of the meeting as any one present. He wished to delay the meeting for one week, and organize thoroughly and have every taxpayer present. He wanted to have a meeting that would be respectable in size and quality, and would influence the whole city. One week's delay would not develop a Tweed in the city, nor would it rob the tax-payers of their property.

Capt. Ward thought Mr. Hart right, and that there was some misunderstanding about the meeting, and that the meeting was really a preliminary one, and the committee which was proposed to be appointed was to provide ways and means and give expression to the sense of the meeting.

Mr. Hart insisted upon his motion that this be considered a preliminary meeting. The motion was accordingly put and carried.

Mr. Hart also moved that the President be authorized to appoint a committee of five before next Saturday, the said committee to prepare a series of resolutions, and that the committee have power to call the next meeting of the citizens, at which meeting the report of the committee shall be submitted. On motion, Capt. Ward was made chairman of the committee.

An unlimited number of motions was made at this point, one of which, made by Capt. Ward was, that a Committee of five be appointed to submit a report at the present meeting. The motion was put and carried, and the following gentlemen were appointed: Messrs. Burns, Floyd, O'Keefe, Steen and Chapman. The Committee retired to prepare a report, and Mr. McCarthy, of Select Council, who was present, was called upon to enlighten the meeting upon the subject under discussion.

Mr. McCarthy said that he had attended the meeting as a spectator, merely to feel the public pulse, as it were, and he did not expect to be called upon to speak. He thought, however, that he might be able to explain to the meeting the matter under consideration. Mr. McCarthy proceeded to explain to the meeting the principle of equalization, and the workings of the Board of Revision.

At the conclusion of Mr. McCarthy's remarks, the committee, which had returned, submitted their report, which is as follows:

"Your committee respectfully report, That in their opinion the evils which the meeting has been called to consider are of a most serious character, and dangerous to our rights and property. Among the chief of these evils we recognize the undue multiplication of officers and officials; the inordinate increase of officials' salaries, without any corresponding improvement in character, capacity or efficiency of such officials; the undue issue of municipal bonds, encumbering private property to support extravagances of corrupt ring management, and flooding the land with special and local legislation, for the benefit of private and corporate monopolies, to the exclusion of wholesome general legislation, and all tending to increase the burdens on the industrial classes."

"Your Committee is also of the opinion that these and kindred evils are so deep-rooted and well protected among those interested in their maintenance, that no ordinary agency, such as public meetings or condemnatory resolutions, can avail to eradicate them. Your Committee would recommend a permanent and well organized union among tax-payers themselves, as the only efficient remedy. Individually, we are powerless, but 'in union there is strength.' A tax-payers' union, or club, should be established in every ward, borough or township; without this, tax payers' interests will continue to be disregarded by politicians as heretofore, with perfect impunity, under the manipulations of ring management. We would recommend such organization without regard to party politics, and without any political aspect whatever, but with determined purpose to oppose any candidate or official who cannot be relied on to protect our interests. We have power numerically, and need only to apply it by proper organization, to bring about a purer and more economical administration of public affairs and to discourage disloyalty to tax-payers among politicians."

Considerable discussion ensued in regard to the report. Some favored its immediate adoption, while others wished it to be referred to a committee. The latter desire finally predominated, and the report was referred to a committee of ten—five from the Seventh and five from the Eighth ward—to be appointed by the President at his leisure.

After some further discussion, the meeting adjourned to convene again on Wednesday evening next, at the same place.

THE ANNEXATION QUESTION.

A General Consultation Proposed—Alleghenians Requested to Express Their Views—A Letter to the Councils.

The following "open letter" in relation to the proposed new City Charter, and the consolidation of the two cities under it, is sufficiently explicit to explain its object without the necessity of comment:

PITTSBURGH, February 18, 1873.

To the Hon. James McBrier, President of the Select Council, and the Hon. Alfred Slack, President of Common Council, of Allegheny City:

GENTLEMEN: The Councils of Allegheny City a few weeks ago agitated and consequently brought the public mind to bear on, the important matter of consolidation. A committee composed of citizens and tax-payers of Pittsburgh, Allegheny City, and the territory contiguous thereto within the lines of the proposed new city, of which committee I have the honor to be chairman, have prepared a new charter for the proposed city, a charter which radically changes our present system of Municipal government, but the main principles of which we claim are best suited for the economical and safe control of the revenues of a large and growing population. There are features of the new charter that the committee and friends of consolidation are not united upon, and which I do not personally approve; but we present and publish the measure to the people and the press, confident that the public opinion will speedily indicate any changes necessary:

It is the desire of the friends of the charter, and of consolidation, that the matter be fully discussed, and the passage of the bill in the Legislature be not pressed against the will of a majority of the people interested; therefore I make of you this request: That you place this communication before the honorable bodies over which you preside; and that they appoint a committee to meet, at time and place to be hereafter named, a committee of Pittsburgh Councils, committees from boroughs interested and the Consolidation Committee. Your representatives, with the above named committees, to discuss, amend, change or do what in their wisdom may seem to them best, with any or all provisions of the new charter.

We ask this of your Councils in good faith. You have officially brought this question before the people, and we suggest and request the benefit of your knowledge and experience in city affairs in framing the proposed charter. The committee hope that you will meet and counsel with us. Our views and plans will be open to you. It is surely your right, undoubtedly your privilege, and, in a certain contingency, might possibly be construed to have been your duty, to help shape the charter under which you may for your time live. Meet with us, arrange and change objectionable and impolitic parts of the new bill, and then, if you will, oppose—the main measure—consolidation.

In the new charter it is clearly and plainly provided that Allegheny City and the boroughs and districts consolidated shall not pay one cent of the old or present debt of Pittsburgh. Each city, borough or district shall pay its debt contracted previous to consolidation, the old debts of each corporation to be paid by a special tax on the property within the limits of the city, borough or district liable for said debt. In your Councils, at the special meeting called to consider consolidation, statements were made that undue proceedings were contemplated; to be plain, or rather use the words then used, that a consolidation bill was to be "snaked through." I hope you will take this letter as a disclaimer of such action on our part, and to meet inquiry made at the special meeting, I will here state the programme of the friends of consolidation.

First—To have the best legal and municipal experts in the cities, boroughs and districts, examine and help perfect the new charter.

Second—We hope (with your aid) that the meeting of the committees will determine and fix many unsettled provisions of the bill.

Third—When perfected and shaped for the good of a majority of the people, to openly and above board, by all honorable means, press the passage of the bill. Confident that the law-making power of the State will see the justice and policy of uniting our fast increasing people in one corporation, so that their power may be felt in the land; that economy, unity and decreased expenses may prevail; and that the mechanic and the workingman, the merchant and the manufacturer, can pass free from their homes to their stores or mills, and can vote and legislate where their interests lie. I send herewith copies of the new charter and accompanying memorial, signed by a large number of citizens of Allegheny, &c.

I have the honor to remain
Your friend,
H. W. OLIVER, JR.

THE ART GALLERY.—The disorganization of the Pittsburgh Art Association, and the escaped truth that a few of the directors had to put their hands deep down into their pockets to make up the pecuniary deficiencies or outstanding debts, are little facts about which our refined and cultured people should feel ashamed. Those who endeavored to make art in the line of painting, popular in this neighborhood, are not only heartily discouraged, but despondent over lost ducats. The association just broken up was composed of a number of gentlemen fully devoted to art, and who, out of their own pockets, donated freely towards the educational idea intended, and never meant that any dividends should come from their investments. They were very hopeful for some time, though making up losses constantly out of their own purses, that a turning point would be attained, but, after the miserable support awarded the last really good and costly exposition made by them, they ceased to forbear in patience longer, and closed their books in profit and loss, the worst side of account showing to disheartening advantage. The directors willingly paid their assessments and philosophically concluded that peddling plaster of Paris busts of dead men, and fancy statues in the same material, of imaginary flower girls, as followed by some of our Italian friends, pays better than the exhibition of the finest efforts of the most distinguished of our home and foreign artists. However, the art gallery is no more, and it will be a very long time before any effort will be made to revive it by others, while those slightly scorched pecuniarly in the failure of the enterprise abandoned will hardly ever venture again in similar work.

PITTSBURGH OPERA HOUSE.—The Denier pantomime combination continues to draw good houses nightly. Everything passes off smoothly and pleasantly, and appears to be appreciated by the audiences who congregate there.

AIMS' AMERICAN THEATRE.—This house, with its selected combination, continues to draw the full houses which its its merit deserves.

TRIMBLE'S VARIETIES.—The "Union Scout" and the other attractions are sufficient attractions to fill this house nightly.

The Hub Ahead!

It is absolutely surprising how the two great branches of the famous tree of Massachusetts—the Boston Clothing Store—have taken root in the soil of the good esteem and favor of the people of this neighborhood. Both houses, one at 95 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh, and the other at 178 Federal street, Allegheny, are doing a splendid business which increases daily. They are thoroughly well stocked with gentlemen's garments and furnishing goods of all qualities at prices exceedingly reasonable and cheap. The managers of the establishments are fair dealing and honorable gentlemen, and whether you desire to purchase or merely make a call of inspection or inquiry, you can always rest assured that a cordial welcome and reception will be awarded you. In view of the near opening of the spring trade, the firm have recently made great reductions in their prices and extraordinary bargains can be obtained at this particular time.

Make Assurance Doubly Sure

By taking out a policy of fire insurance on your property from the Teutonia Insurance Company of Allegheny. The Teutonia gives absolute security against all loss, by paying promptly every claim. A man who takes out a policy in it is sure to get his money when he loses his property by fire. No man should be without insurance, and the Teutonia offers especial inducements. The office is at 206 East Ohio street, where the Secretary, Mr. H. F. Eggers, will wait upon patrons.

The Center of Attraction

It is not generally known that General Grant sends to Pittsburgh for his cigars, but such is the fact. The President likes the choice "Partaga," or genuine "Henry Clay," and he knows that by sending to this city he is sure to get the right kind. Mr. Grant thinks too that a handsome meerschaum pipe is not bad. He orders all his smoking articles from the well known and genial gentleman, Mr. S. A. Barr, No. 132 Smithfield street, where everything in the smoker's line can always be found of good and reliable quality. We advise those who indulge in the "weed" to patronize Mr. Barr.

The Following Machines

taken in exchange for the Improved Singer, will be sold cheap at No. 10 Sixth street:

1 New Howe.
1 New Wheeler & Wilson.
1 New Florence.

Numerous old machines of every style, in good working order, will be sold for from $5 to $25.

DISTRICT COURT—JUDGE KIRKPATRICK.

The case of Daniel Farvey against Giles, Jackson et al. is still on trial in this Court. The plaintiff claims ten thousand dollars damages for being "ridden on a rail" in Braddocks borough, last July. Farvey states that he was sitting in his boarding house on the evening of July 23d when James Giles, Wm. Holden and others came in and took him by force out of the house, rode him on a rail to 'Squire Russell's office and made him swear he would leave town. He was then allowed to go back home. The distance from the 'Squire's office was about a quarter of a mile, and the seat he occupied during the trip was a wagon tongue—being helped to maintain his equilibrium, he alleges, by three men whom he did not know. He had no idea of the cause of this public demonstration.

Farvey told his story, which was corroborated by several witnesses, after which the case for the plaintiff rested.

James Giles, one of the defendants, testified that he in company with Robert Holden went to the store of Mrs. Jordan. He caught Farvey and pushed him out, and the latter laid down on the street. He took hold of Farvey, but did not strike him. Don't know who put him on the rail. Mrs. Jordan came out and hit Giles over the back of the neck. She struck at him again, but hit Farvey. He clung to the rail with his hands until they told him if he would sit up they would not hurt him, which he did. He was not handled roughly. They carried the pole in their hands until Farvey sat up, and then they raised it up to their shoulders. Did not tell Farvey that if he would take an oath to leave the town and not prosecute me or any of the defendants, we would not hurt him.

Other witnesses were examined whose testimony corroborated the above statements. The case is still on trial.

THE TONIC OF THE PERIOD.

This is a trying season to persons deficient in stamina and out of health. To rally their physical energies by the most approved artificial means is a duty they owe to themselves. Foremost among the tonics and alteratives of the age stands Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is a vegetable stimulant and corrective, against which no tenable objection can be urged. There is no risk in recommending it as the best preparation in existence for renovating an enfeebled and broken down system. The most valuable medicinal products that nature has ever yielded to botanical research are blended in this famous elixir, and its stimulating basis is recognized in our public hospitals as the purest of all varieties of distilled liquors. For general debility, nervous weakness, dyspepsia, constipation, rheumatism, biliousness and intermittent fevers it is a positive specific.
